MASS MEETING DEMANDS CUTS IN MILK PRICES

Gulf Between Farm and Retail Sales Scored; Capper Speaks.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

A vigorous protest against exorbitant milk prices and a demand for a substantial and immediate reduction in such prices, were made last night at a mass meeting of citizens in Central High School Auditorium called by the District Department of the American Federation of Government Employes.

The audience of nearly 1,000 heard Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, of Kansas, give his approval to the movement for an investigation of milk prices to determine whether a milk trust is in operation to the detriment of the consumer.

All citizens were urged by James G. Yaden, president of the Federation of Citizens Association, to aid in the presentation of facts to facilitate the milk investigation. The prominent leader charged there is too wide a difference existing between the price paid the dairy farmer and the price charged to the consumer.

Retail Price "Excessive."

"The retail price of milk is excessive," a resolution adopted read, "and has worked a hardship upon the wage-earning consumers who have had material reductions in their income." The resolution urged an immediate and substantial reduction. The resolution was introduced by Thomas O. Fee, president of the Postoffice Lodge of the Government Employes Association.

The people of this city are entitled to know, emphasized Senator Capper, whether any monopoly controls the milk supply of the District and fixes prices to suit itself. They are entitled to know whether they are paying too much for the milk they buy and, if so, where the profit is going, he added.

Many complaints against the price of milk have come to him, Senator Capper said, and he expressed his "complete accord with the proposal that the facts be investigated and given publicity. The truth can not hurt any honest individual or organization, but it is a powerful weapon against wrongdoers and persons who exploit the public for their private gain.

Washington Post Lauded.

"The fine series of articles in The Washington Post has helped to focus attention on this question, and the Senate District Committee had already approved Senator King's resolution calling for an investigation of milk prices."

Senator Capper said he does not believe that the farmers are receiving an excessive price for their milk, but

New Directions Sent Davis by Roosevelt

Additional Instructions Cabled to Ambassador-at-Large for Meeting at Geneva Tomorrow; Brazilians Here for White House Parleys.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Roosevelt last night dispatched complementary instructions to American Ambassador at Large Norman H. Davis, now in Paris, for the meeting of the disarmament conference in Geneva tomorrow. The new instructions to Mr. Davis were necessitated by the publication of the President's appeal to the nations of the world for a three-point program of realistic armament reduction.

The reaction to the President's appeal was widespread in its general approval. However, in some quarters there was a disposition to read into the Roosevelt statement an interpretation that failed to reflect faithfully the President's views and the purposes behind the new American arms policy.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had ecstatically hailed the Roosevelt pronouncement as a new departure in American foreign policy. He had discerned in the Roosevelt move a new impulse for the American ship of state. Foreign observers professed to see in the White House statement a farewell to the hitherto familiar American policy of national isolation from European political intrigues.

A corrective to these views was officially administered yesterday when it was learned authoritatively that the United States does not intend to depart from its traditional policy. The President had made his appeal to the nations to abandon offensive armament and to prepare for mutual agreements of nonaggression. However, the following points were emphasized for the complete understanding of the President's thought:

First, the United States will agree to abandon offensive weapons of warfare only on condition that other nations agree to do the same.

Second, if during the disarmament truce other nations agree to respect the sanctity of territories and refrain from invasion, the United States will likewise agree.

Third, in case of violation the United States would consult with other nations but would retain its full liberty of action with regard to

MILITIA MOBILIZED FOR MILK-WAR END

Wisconsin Rioting Is Said to Assume Size of Organized Rebellion.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 17 (A.P.).—Half of Wisconsin's National Guard strength was mobilized tonight for a finish fight against milk strike violence, which, authorities charged, began to assume proportions of organized rebellion.

After a quiet morning, with milk flowing to markets under protection of hundreds of deputy sheriffs in the troublesome Milwaukee milkshed and northern Shawano County, a succession of sharp engagements flared over the State in the afternoon of the strike's fifth day.

Near Milwaukee police and deputy sheriffs scored a victory over an overwhelming force of pickets who assailed them. About 50 pickets surrounded four milk trucks under convoy of a dozen officers in squad cars. When they clambered into the cars, officers came out with clubs swinging. Four wounded pickets were left when strikers retreated and three were taken to a hospital.

At Racine authorities disclosed that Russell Helding had been shot and critically injured last night when strikers surrounded the home of W. H. Gifford, whose son, Allen, is president of the Progressive Dairy Co. Surgeons took a .38-caliber bullet from Helding's spine. Helding, a farm youth, denied he was a picket.

In the Shawano region, where 1,400 deputies and guardsmen took charge after a succession of previous riots, a running fight between officers and several hundred pickets ended with the rout by tear gas bombs of the strikers.

As the pickets came from the direction of Outagamie County, a strike

M'CORD ERROR BARB IS QUICKLY DISPUTED

High Officials Uphold Akron Commander as Navy Court Reports.

(Associated Press.)

The Nation's highest naval officials quickly disputed yesterday the finding of a Navy court of inquiry that an "error of judgment" by the commanding officer of the Arkon was a "contributing cause" of the great airship disaster.

In its final report, the court held that Commander Frank C. McCord, in his terrific but futile battle against the elements, had erred in not steering the giant ship away from ominous flashes of lightning which approached from the south and west.

It added, however, that McCord, who lost his life with 72 others when the Akron plunged into the Atlantic in the early morning of April 4, should not be condemned without more information as to the data upon which he based his decisions. This went down with the ship.

Disagreement with the opinion that McCord had erred was expressed by William V. Pratt, chief of Naval Op-

Reopening of Arms Parley Postponed

Geneva, May 17 (U.P.).—Reconvening of the preliminary arms conference here tomorrow was postponed suddenly tonight until Friday afternoon.

A communique to the effect was issued following perusal of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's dramatic address in Berlin, outlining Germany's position on armaments and indicating she still insists on arms equality.

It explained that the extra day was given in order to permit the delegates to the arms parley to study Hitler's speech. Norman H. Davis, the chief American delegtae, remained in Paris when he heard of the postponement, and will proceed here for the Friday session.

Wiley Post Starts World Hop July 1

Oklahoma City, May 17 (A.P.).—Wiley Post, coholder of the round-the-world flight record, announced today he would take off about July 1 in a solo attempt to lower the mark.

The flight, Mr. Post said, will be made in the Winnie Mae, in which he and Harold Gatty flew around the globe in 8 days 15 hours and 51 minutes in June, 1931. The fuselage is being rebuilt and the plane will carry a new motor.

Instead of a human companion, Post will be aided by a robot, which he has been testing for several weeks in all kinds of weather and over plains and mountains.

NAZI APPROVAL OF PEACE PLAN WINS APPLAUSE

Hitler's Backing Coupled With Demand for Full Equality.

Berlin, May 17 (A.P.).—Chancellor Hitler today, in his eagerly awaited pronouncement before the Reichstag, proclaimed Germany's demand for equality in armaments, accepted President Roosevelt's proposals for world peace, and announced Germany's readiness to cooperate with other nations in guaranteeing international security and tranquillity.

"There is but one great task before the world, namely, to secure the peace of the world," the Nazi chieftain asserted in an address which, while stoutly reaffirming Germany's "right to live" on equal terms with other peoples, was marked by obvious moderation.

The German chancellor roundly scored the Versailles Treaty, but pledged his government to abide by it until some better instrument should be found to replace it.

Renounces Aggression.

"Germany is not thinking of aggression but of security," the chancellor declared in announcing that his country is ready to join "every solemn nonaggression pact."

Other parts of the chancellor's speech were designed to show his desire to save Europe from the scourge of war and to assure peace for Germany and for her neighbors.

Cheered wildly by thousands of his uniformed followers, the Nazi leader delivered his address standing in front of a huge swastika banner, beside which hung a black, white and red flag, emblem of the old empire.

Reiterating the demand for equality of armaments, the chancellor asserted that equality is moral, legal and sensible.

"Germany wants nothing she is not ready to give to others," he said.

He welcomed President Roosevelt's message, sent yesterday to 54 nations of the world.

Response to Roosevelt.

"The American President's proposals," he said, "place Germany under warm obligations. Germany is ready without reserve to agree to this

New Mooney Trial Will Start Monday

San Francisco, May 17 (A.P.).—Superior Judge Louis H. Ward announced from the bench today he would issue an order authorizing Sheriff William J. Fitzgerald to bring Thomas J. Mooney here from San Quentin Prison for Mooney's newly granted trial in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing case.

Judge Ward also told Leon Gallagher, Mooney's attorney, he would sign an order requiring the San Francisco police to turn over to the defense all physical evidence used by the officers in the original case which resulted in the conviction of Mooney on murder charges and his subsequent imprisonment for life.

The evidence is to be turned over to the defense for inspection prior to opening of the new trial next Monday.

PARADE CALLED OFF AS VETERAN RIFT INCREASES

Relief to Farmers and Jobless Voted Despite Minority Fight.

Torn with factional tantrums and nearing the official end of the administration's Fort Hunt hospitality, the bonus army tents along the Potomac last night hummed with discord.

During an evening of flaming oratory, the veteran legions decided to call off the parade they had aimed to stage in Washington tomorrow. Washington policemen, however, are still under orders for immediate reserve duty while the veterans are near the city.

There were no approaches to physical combat at the tented city on the river last night but there was much murmuring about "bricks" and "tent stakes" being close at hand as the split between the "right" wing and the main body of the army evidenced.

Diehards Walk Out.

When a majority of the delegates at the stormy session held in the Washington Auditorium yesterday had voted approval of a resolution favoring relief for farmers and unemployed, a minority of diehards walked out of the hall in disgusted disapproval.

Verbal clashes were the order of the parliamentary procedure of the veterans at their gathering. Twice during the day George A. Brady, chairman of the convention, ordered the playing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" to bring the house to order. The response was excellent.

Will Disband Monday.

Some assurance that the army would leave Washington was seen in the adoption of a resolution to disband after breakfast Monday at Fort Hunt, Va., where Uncle Sam is providing "keep" for the delegates.

The group of 200 which left the hall with loud gestures of disap-

Buxton, N. Dak., May 17 (A.P.).—A cashier who disobeyed the commands of three robbers was wounded fatally today as the First National Bank was robbed of between $500 and $800.

Disobeying a command to "stick 'em up" and running toward a rear room to release a tear-gas valve, Leonard Hanson was shot through the chest as the robbers attempted to stop him.

As he fell to the floor he released the valve, filling the bank with choking fumes. Two other bank workers were threatened with death. The raiders fled in an automobile.

Texans to Invade Mexico To Save Bandit's Victims

Two Ranchers, Trailing Rustled Horses Across Rio Grande, Reported Kidnaped by Border Desperado; Father of One Heads Posse.

Alpine, Tex., May 17 (A.P.).—C. L. Hannold tonight began organizing a party of cattlemen from the Big Bend section to proceed into Mexico to the rescue of his son, Art Hannold, and John Rollins, American ranchers, who he said were held captive by Mexican bandits.

According to information received here, C. L. Hannold learned of the kidnaping through the Mexican judge at Boquillas, whose name was not ascertained. The motive was not known.

The father was advised that his son and Rollins, who worked on the Hannold ranch near San Vicente, had been captured by Candalario Bisa, border desperado, who had been operating in the region eight years. He is wanted by both American and Mexican authorities.

Young Hannold and Rollins entered Mexico May 9 on the trail of some of the ranch's horses, which had been driven across the Rio Grande by rustlers. The ranchers trailed the horses to a point about 20 miles south of the border, where they were surrounded and disarmed by Bisa and his band of about 30 men, the father was informed.

He said the two were armed with pistols and saddle carbines when they left the ranch, but were surprised by the bandits and unable to defend themselves.

Officers said the captive pair might have been taken to Ocampo, a Mexican village about 150 miles below the border.

Record Public Works And Control of Trade Urged by White House

2-Year Experiment in Industry Mobilizing President's Aim.

Extensive Powers for Compelling Cooperation Sought.

Practically unlimited authority for a two-year experiment in national industrial mobilization is sought in the emergency recovery act presented in Congress yesterday with President Roosevelt's approval.

The Federal powers of regulation and control would provide for organized "industrial planning" on a scale as broad and sweeping as prevailed under the War Industries Board.

As in most of the administration's emergency projects, however, this authority would be extended on a permissive basis, to be invoked—as the President stipulated in his covering message—only "in order to meet rare cases of noncooperation and abuse."

Antitrust Law Section.

The objectives of the program, as related to private industry, are to provide machinery "for a great cooperative movement" in order "to obtain wide reemployment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction." This definition of policy is from President Roosevelt's message. A similar declaration of policy is set forth in the bill itself.

While the experimental powers are specifically limited to two years, they may be terminated by Presidential decree whenever the economic emergency is declared at end.

In the section which makes the antitrust laws inoperative against approved trade association codes, there are strong safeguards against "the old evils of unfair competition" from monopolistic price fixing.

The rights and interest of labor are specifically protected in the bill, as are the interests of all small business enterprises.

Single-Headed Control.

Under the broad appointive powers extended to the President, a new single-headed agency for industrial supervision may be established, or the agreements may be supervised

Chicago Pays Part To Teachers Today

Chicago, May 17 (A.P.).—Three month's pay in one swoop will descend upon the school teachers of Chicago tomorrow.

Long suffering from a famine of pay checks, the teachers in one day will receive salaries for last October, November and December—a total of $10,204,349. And just last week they were given September pay checks.

The board of education authorized the payment of $12,438,428 in back salaries, money having been made available by purchase of tax anticipation warrants by the banks. The 13,872 teachers will receive $10,000,000, while 4,000 civil service employes will be paid $2,234,079.

Chamberlain Balks Boycott of Germany

London, May 17 (A.P.).—A move in the House of Commons to prohibit the entry of German goods into Great Britain under the international sanctions clause of the League of Nations covenant was abandoned today after an eloquent appeal by Sir Austen Chamberlain.

Geofrey Mander, National Liberal, spoke for five minutes in defense of the proposal.

Sir Austen arose in a tense atmosphere and to the accompaniment of approving cheers appealed to Mander to withdraw the measure, telling him that such steps should be taken only in an emergency. Mander withdrew the bill.

Akron Survivor Pleased By Assignment to Macon

Memphis, Tenn., May 17 (A.P.).—Moody Eugene Erwin, one of the three survivors of the Akron dirigible disaster, today expressed pleasure at his assignment to the Macon.

"I'm glad to get the assignment," Erwin said. "I have all the faith in the world in lighter-than-air craft."

Erwin came here from Masonhall, Tenn., where he has been visiting his parents. He plans to leave Thursday for his new duties.

President Roosevelt's Message to Congress

The President's message to Congress on industrial cooperation and public works follows:

To the Congress:

Before the special session of the Congress adjourns, I recommend two further steps in our national campaign to put people to work.

My first request is that: I. The Congress provide for the machinery necessary for a great cooperative movement throughout all industry in order to obtain wide reemployment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction.

Employers can not do this singly, or even in organized groups, because such action increases costs and thus permits cutthroat underselling by selfish competitors unwilling to join in such a public-spirited endeavor.

One of the great restrictions upon such cooperative efforts up to this

BANK PICKS NAME OF FIRST NATIONAL

Northeast Savings Votes to Be Fifth Member of New Institution.

Subject to approval of the Treasury Department, the name of the new national bank, to plans for which five local restricted banks now are definitely committed, will be "The First National Bank in Washington." This was decided yesterday at a meeting at the Willard Hotel of directors of five banks definitely approving the plan. These banks are Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., District National Bank, Potomac Savings Bank, Washington Savings Bank and Northeast Savings Bank, directors of the last-named institution having voted to join the merger yesterday.

Favorable action by officials of Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank on the plan was forecast by the presence of several of them at the meeting. Edwin C. Graham, who will be president of the bank, presided at the meeting and said that the $1,250,000 worth of stock needed to open the new institution should be secured in an intensive drive of seven days. A prospectus setting forth the plan was formally approved by the assembly.

This prospectus announces a new bank, being organized under the laws of the United States, to be known as "———— National Bank," and a member of the Federal Reserve System. Its capital and surplus is to be $1,250,000, the latter item accounting for $250,000. This present structure is subject to change, however, as other banks come into the plan. The present issue of capital stock for public subscription, however, will be 50,000 shares, with a par value of $20, to be sold to stockholders and depositors of

The dispatches said the tug disregarded orders to halt issued by French customs men and continued on to Treves, Germany.

$3,300,000,000 Plan of Job Creation Is Sent Congress.

New Taxes Demanded to Finance Vast Undertaking.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The last major project in the Roosevelt reconstruction program went into the congressional hopper yesterday.

Backed by a vigorous White House message urging its prompt enactment, the bill authorizes a public works program of unprecedented scope and establishes emergency machinery for the stabilization of private industry through Federally supervised trade agreements.

The emergency program is limited to two years.

Public works expenditures are limited to a permissive aggregate of $3,300,000,000.

$220,000,000 New Taxes.

Every section of the bill is calculated to stimulate reemployment immediately on a national scale.

New taxes aggregating $220,000,000 annually were demanded by President Roosevelt to soundly finance the contemplated public works bonds.

All sections of the antitrust laws, which have heretofore restrained effective industrial stabilization agreements, are automatically suspended for the period of the emergency.

Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee announced last night that public hearings on the bill will begin today at 10 a. m. Lewis Douglas, Director of the Budget, likely will be the first witness.

Through the National Association of Manufacturers, American business last night pledged its wholehearted support of the reemployment program.

Approved by Industry.

"The purpose of the national industrial recovery act introduced by Senator Wagner today has the entire approval of industry as reflected by the representatives of 56,000 manufacturers who met in Washington a few days ago," the statement said.

Robert L. Lund, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, was chairman of the drafting committee appointed by President Roosevelt last week to perfect the mobilization section of the momentous measure.

"So far as I can interpret the viewpoint of manufacturers, I know they are desirous of cooperating with the administration in the plan to improve employment," Mr. Lund said. "They are especially appreciative of, and sympathetic with, the attitude of the President in providing for self-

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—With a wave of placards denouncing stoppage of work on Diego Rivera's mural, left-wing political and art groups united tonight in picketing Rockefeller Center.

For two hours, 400 men and women paraded past the entrance to the R. C. A. Building—the center's dominant 70-story structure inside whose main entrance a canvas screen covers the proletarian panorama, work on which was ordered stopped by John D. Rockefeller, jr., after Rivera refused to delete a head of Lenin.

The picketing followed upon a mass meeting at Columbus Circle—enlivened by the dousing of two police-cle office building.

WORLD'S FATE HELD IN LONDON PARLEYS

Academy of Economics Addressed by Charge of Costa Rica Here.

The world will be either saved or placed "in the hands of the undertakers" as the result of the Economic Conference in London, Senor Manuel Gonzales, Charge d'Affaires of the Costa Rican Legation, declared last night at a meeting of the Academy of World Economics.

Senor Gonzales declared that the fate of the world depends on the success of the operation to be performed on the world economic system by the statesmen who will meet at the conference.

The opinion that "we may have to reduce our tariffs a little after all or increase our enlightenment of the heathen and perhaps pass laws compelling all Americans to go over to France for French wine, if they are not satisfied with the beer they get in their own country or the hard liquor they will soon be able to get at home," was advanced by Prof. John Donaldson, professor of political economy at George Washington University.

Many of the theories of classical economists are not always working out, Dr. Cleona Lewis, of the Brookings Institute, asserted. The assumption that trade follows loans between nations is already being held in some disrepute, he declared.

Other speakers included Prof. J. Solterer, of Georgetown University Foreign Service School; Prof. M. W. M. Splawn, former dean of the Graduate School of American University, and L. Magnusson, secretary of the academy. Dr. William F. Notz, dean of the School of Foreign Service of Georgetown University, president of the academy, introduced Senor Gonzales, who presided.

Firm Seeks $5,239 Deposited in Bank

A suit to establish its title to money that was left in the Commercial National Bank after the bank had closed was instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Sears, Roebuck & Co. The suit seeks the return to the company of $5,239.20 in cash that was left in the bank building at 5 p. m., February 27.

A receiver was appointed for the bank before it opened the following day and the deposit was never credited to the company's account, it was charged, though checks totaling $1,262.92 that were in the same deposit, were returned.

The Sears company contends that the bank was taken over by Robert C. Baldwin, as receiver, before the money was placed to the store's account, and it now demands that the money be refunded. Attorneys Tobriner, Graham, Bres & Tobriner, and the law firm of Miller & Chevalier represent the complainants.

Salisbury, N. C., May 17 (A.P.).—Bryce P. Beard, commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion, in a statement today said the legion "condemns and disapproves with all its strength" the march of veterans on Washington.

"According to circulars in my hands," Beard said, "Communists are promoting the march. I appeal to every veteran in the State to shun these tempters, who have no real sympathy for our disabled, but whose sole aim is to gather together crowds to sow the seed for the overthrow of our Government and for your own enslavement under a rule of tyranny."

Replies to World Peace Message of Roosevelt's

President Roosevelt yesterday received the following acknowledgements to the message which he sent Tuesday to the sovereigns and presidents of the nations participating in the World Economic and Disarmament Conferences:

King George.

"I thank you for your important message which I have communicated to my government in order that it may receive their fullest consideration."

Wilhelm Miklas, Federal President of Austria.

"Gratefully acknowledge receipt of your most important proposals aiming at efficacious establishment of world peace. I transmitted the proposals to the Austrian Government for close and earnest consideration, result of which will be urgently submitted to your excellency."

Gustaf, R., of Sweden.

"I thank you for your telegraphic message of which I have taken part with genuine sympathy. I sincerely participate in your hopes that at this moment all nations join in concerted action for political and economic peace and I feel confident that the contribution of the United States to the success of these efforts will be of the utmost value with a view to attain a goal of such vital necessity to humanity."

Christian, R., of Denmark.

"I wish to convey to you my sincerest thanks for the message you have sent to me and to other heads of states. I fully join in your wishes that the two conferences may result in measures to secure peace between the nations and the development of international commerce. The Danish government entirely shares the hopes expressed in your message."

Albert Kviesis of Latvia.

"Received with greatest interest your message and beg to inform you that Latvia readily will join in realization of proposed lofty aims."

Haakon, R., of Norway.

"I have conferred with my prime minister on your telegram and can tell you, Mr. President, that my government quite agrees with your appeal, which it gives me the great pleasure to inform you of."

Queen Wilhelmina, of the Netherlands.

"It is, Mr. President, a matter of deep satisfaction to me that the reply from The Netherlands to your telegraphic appeal can be given at once and without reserve.

"This nation for which I speak abhors war. It would, of course, resist assault, but it abhors war. As it condemns provocation and aggression between citizens, so it condemns provocation and aggression between nations. It thinks that the times have come for the community of nations to show by acts that it is determined to rid itself of the law of the strongest as is its potential supreme standard. Peaceful adjustment is the exclusive method for settling national controversies. * * * Substantial disarmament is now imperatively necessary for continued armaments lead to competition, * * * to inevitable war.

"The Netherlands are ready to take with the other nations of the world the four steps you propose. * * * They do not make any reservation.

"The forthcoming economic conference can be assured of active and wholehearted support of my government. * * * This country stands for sanity and order in its economic and financial life. Internationally, it stands for unrestricted commerce, stable currencies and better prices. * * * With my government and people I fully join in the fulfillment of the hopes you have expressed."

President Machado of Cuba.

"The government and people of Cuba receive with real satisfaction the message for the promotion of peace and well-being for all peoples which your excellency sends them. The historical moment in which we live demands the measures wisely indicated by your excellency, and Cuba offers * * * her unconditional adherence and decided cooperation. * * * I congratulate your excellency on the noble and lofty initiative which you have taken * * * and hope that the whole world will respond to your noble call for action with a decisiveness springing from the principles of good and from the instinct of self-preservation."

President Lebrun of France.

"I have duly received the message which you have been good enough to send me in your capacity as head of the Government of the United States. I thank you for your communication. I hasten to render homage to the lofty sentiments which have dictated it in your fervent love of peace and your sincere desire for the economic recovery of the peoples. The government of the French Republic will study the communication in a similar spirit and a community of aspiration."

President Rodriguez, of Mexico.

"I have read with profound interest the eloquent international message that you have kindly addressed to me. * * * The very noble purpose of your message * * * are shared by the government over which I preside, and by the people of my country. It is evident that the world can wait no longer for the adoption of international measures in economic matters, the study of which has really already been exhausted. * * *

"With regard to the other grave menace, that resulting from excessive armaments, I absolutely share your generous point of view; and the four specific points of action which you indicate as immediate and secondary objectives of the Disarmament Conference will be supported by Mexico's delegation in Geneva.

"Mexico, which is not and has never been an aggressor nation, believes that it gives thus, in addition to the action which it proposes to develop at Geneva and at London, new proof that it is absolutely at one with you and with the sentiment of the great people of the United States for the realization of the hopes for international peace and prosperity."

President Arias, of Panama.

"The Republic of Panama brings all her good will to your excellency's humanitarian initiative, and trusts that the prestige of the great American democracy * * * will greatly contribute to the success of the conferences * * * at Geneva and London."

President Schulthess, of Switzerland.

"I am hastening to thank you cordially for the important telegraphic message which you were kind enough to send me * * *. The Federal Council, which has examined this message with the deepest interest, expresses the feeling of the Swiss people by welcoming the new effort which you are making with a view to preventing the disarmament conference from meeting with failure which might jeopardize the peace of the world and which would leave little hope for a favorable result from the London economic conference."

DAVIS WILL PRESS 3-POINT DISARMING PLAN AT GENEVA

the policy to be followed by this Government.

These corollary views were embodied in the new Davis instructions sent him last night. It is believed that when the conference meets Mr. Davis will be in a position to explain more at length the President's original armament proposal in the form that it will be taken up by the delegates there.

Replies from twelve countries were received at the White House yesterday, embodying substantial agreement with the President's proposals, King George of England and President Lebrun were among the very first to indorse the Roosevelt arms proposal. The Italian reply had not been received up to a late hour last night and attaches at the White House were still waiting for the Soviet answer to the proposal. More than the usual interest attaches itself to the nature of the Soviet communication, as hitherto the Soviets have flouted other American communications, transmitted through other intermediaries.

The President has not yet fully determined the form in which he will clothe the disarmament ideas he offered the world's leaders on Tuesday. It is natural that he will first await the responses of all the countries to determine their state of mind before taking the other and more decisive step which will probably be offered at the Disarmament Conference by Mr. Davis at the most propitious moment.

However, as the prompt response of Chancellor Hitler brought a lessening of the international tension that had suddenly contracted at the pointed reference of the President to "selfish and short-sighted policies of other nations," the nature of the Japanese reply aroused considerable more conjecture.

The President was known to have been considerably concerned about the international clash of arms in South America, the threat of arms in Germany and especially the recurrent Japanese military activities in the Far East. The Japanese reply has not yet been received due to the thirteen hours difference in time between Washington and Tokyo.

More Realistic Approach.

The President's proposal about armed troops crossing frontiers during the period of truce, will have to be squarely met by the Japanese authorities who continue to prosecute the war in Manchuria by even extending their most recent operation against the former capital of the country, Peiping, the seat of all the foreign diplomatic missions.

A more realistic approach to the problem of embargoes can be made by the President, as soon as the Senate has taken action on the present resolution now before them to give the President authority to suspend the export of arms and ammunition to any country guilty of an international breach of the peace. This measure has already been passed by the House and Secretary of State Cordell Hull appealed to the Senate to expedite the passage of this resolution.

In the international field a more strict control of armament will be attempted if the provisions of the MacDonald arms plan are adopted now. The MacDonald plan would establish an international board of control which would be permanent and make periodical surveys of the armament equipment of all nations and publish them to the world at regular intervals.

The preparations for the economic conference proceeded apace with the arrival here yesterday of the Brazilian delegation, the third before the last of the twelve nations that the President invited for a White House exchange of views.

Dr. J. F. De Assis Brasil is the chief of the Brazilian delegation, which was met by Undersecretary of State Phillips and the President's military and naval aids and his secretary, Col. M. H. McIntyre.

Dr. Brasil speaks excellent English and declared yesterday that his first concern was to put himself at the disposition of the President for any information the President desired on the Brazilian economic situation. The outlook for coffee was not too hopeful, he added, in view of the general economic uneasiness which affected the poor man in a more acute way than most people since coffee was a drink for every one. He will lunch with the President today.

Robinson Voices Approval.

The reception of Chancellor Hitler's speech yesterday was a general expression of approval. Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Democrat), of Arkansas, declared:

"I am pleased with the spirit and what I understand to be the substance of Chancellor Hitler's speech."

The President listened in at his radio in the White House during the broadcast of the Hitler address from Berlin. The President spent three years at school in Bad Nauheim in Germany and understands German fully.

Among the other telegrams of congratulations which were received at the White House yesterday was one from former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who has been mentioned as a Republican member of the American Economic Conference delegation. Mr. Hull declared yesterday that he believed it very probable that at least one Republican would be on the delegation.

University Provost Bans Antiwar Move

Los Angeles, May 17 (A.P.).—Circulation of an antiwar petition pledging signers "not to support the United States Government in any war" was stopped on the University of California at Los Angeles campus today by order of Dr. E. C. Moore, provost.

Harry Ruja, a junior class student, and chairman of the so-called "student peace' committee," was called into Dr. Moore's office and told to get the petitions off the campus. The circulators were then told by Ruja to stop their activities.

Ruja said the circulation of the petitions was started at Brown University, Providence, R. I., by a student newspaper and had spread to other schools under supervision of a New York organization known as "The Intercollegiate Disarmament Council."

HITLER WINS PRAISE ON ROOSEVELT VIEW

Almost Universal Acclaim Is Accorded Chancellor on Support of Peace.

(Associated Press.)

Governments of the world yesterday received with almost universal acclaim Chancellor Adolf Hitler's reply on behalf of Germany to President Roosevelt's proposals to 54 nations for peace and economic recovery. Some of the reactions:

Paris—A government spokesman regarded Hitler's attitude as conciliatory and an about face in policy.

Geneva—League of Nations spokesmen regarded Hitler's words as more moderate than expected, but disliked what they called an implied threat against the disarmament conference unless Germany were granted arms equality.

Rome—Hitler utterance considered in semiofficial circles as important step toward disarmament and world peace.

Budapest — Comment from the Hungarian government was lacking; newspapers refrained from comment or were cautiously skeptical.

Madrid — Newspapers commented variously that the inferiority imposed on Germany by the treaty of Versailles must be removed.

Louderback Trial Holds Garner From World Fair

Inability of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner to attend the opening of the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago will not interfere with the scheduled opening of the exposition on May 27, it was announced in Chicago last night by Rufus Dawes, president of the Century of Progress.

The hope was expressed by officials of the exposition that the President would be represented at the opening ceremonies, possibly by Mrs. Roosevelt. Vice President Garner, in declining the invitation to attend the opening, explained that his presence in Washington is imperative while the impeachment trial of Judge Harold Louderback is in progress.

Land Bank Head Goes To Prison for 6 Years

Kansas City, May 17 (A.P.).—Walter Cravens, former head of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank, was taken to Federal prison at Leavenworth today to serve a six-year sentence imposed in 1928 for alleged misappropriation of the bank's funds.

ROOSEVELT'S PLAN APPROVED BY HITLER

method of relieving the international crisis, for she, too, is of the opinion that without a solution of the disarmament question no lasting economic reconstruction is possible.

"She (Germany) is ready unselfishly to participate in this work of putting in order the political and economic conditions of the world."

Germany, he asserted, will go as far as any other country in disarming.

"Germany would dissolve her entire military establishment," he said, "and destroy what little armaments are left, if neighboring countries did likewise.

"Contrariwise, Germany must insist at least upon equality."

Turning to Germany's present military situation the chancellor said:

"Germany has disarmed. Our army consists of 100,000 men. The strength and quality of the police are internationally regulated.

"Assistant police, established during our revolution, have an exclusively political character. After the victory in the revolution this police organization already is being demobilized and will be completely dissolved before the end of the year.

Questions French Demands.

"Germany now has the moral right to demand that other nations also fulfill the obligations of the Versailles treaty.

"The equality promised last November was not realized."

Then dealing with the desires of the French government with regard to security, he asked:

"What concrete safeguards does France demand beyond the international obligations already assumed?

"What safeguards is Germany to have?"

Hitler's long speech, which many regard as his most statesmanlike effort, rallied the entire German people behind him.

Not since August, 1914, when the people's chosen representatives unanimously pledged their support to William II, has the Reichstag witnessed such unanimity. Even the Socialist members stood and gave assent as Speaker Goering of the Reichstag read the impressive resolution in support of the chancellor's declaration of foreign policy.

The galleries burst into applause and the vast audience sang "Deutschland Uber Alles."

It appeared that once again the Nazi chief had sensed intuitively just what the German people were thinking, and at the same time realized that he had the world for a forum.

MacDonald Plan Wedge.

His government, Herr Hitler said, considers that the MacDonald plan for disarmament presents a possible starting point for the solution of the arms problem. This plan calls for transformation of the Reichswehr into a conscript short-term army, and referring to this, the chancellor said:

"Germany must further demand that transformation of the present system, which was not desired but was forced upon Germany, shall proceed apace in proportion as other states actually disarm.

"Germany is ready to regard a five-year transitional period as adequate for reestablishing her national security in the expectation that at the end of this time Germany will really be on equal footing with others.

"Germany is further ready to renounce instruments of aggression if during that time other nations likewise destroy theirs."

(The abolition of aggressive weapons was one of the proposals contained in President Roosevelt's worldwide appeal of yesterday.)

"Germany will reject no arms ban as too far-going so long as applied to all powers," the chancellor continued. "Insofar as arms are conceded to other powers Germany alone can not be forbidden defensive weapons forever. We are ready to use our equality only to the extent laid down by negotiations.

"All these demands do not imply arming up, but exclusively the desire that others arm down."

President Indirectly Asks Speed on Repeal

President Roosevelt yesterday urged the States, indirectly, to hasten ratification of prohibition repeal.

In his message covering public work and industrial control, the President asked that provision be made for automatic repeal of the proposed reemployment taxes as rapidly as other revenues came to light.

He suggested specifically as a second proviso that great revenues would accrue "whenever the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, now pending before the States, shall have been ratified and repeal of the Volstead act effected."

"The preprohibition revenues laws," the message continued, "would then automatically go into effect and yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary reemployment taxes."

LOUDERBACK LOSES POINT IN EVIDENCE

Warrant Sent for "Healer" He Allegedly Appointed While on Bench.

(Associated Press.)

The prosecutors of Federal Judge Harold Louderback succeeded over defense objections yesterday in writing into the record of his impeachment trial evidence to show that while a State judge the defendant named two friends—mentioned in the impeachment articles—to lucrative positions as receivers and appraisers.

One of these was W. S. Leake, a San Francisco "healer," for whom the Senate later yesterday issued a warrant to compel his appearance as a prosecution witness. Leake, the Senate was advised by its sergeant at arms, had refused to comply with a subpena served on him May 2, contending he was physically unable to do so. The warrant followed Tuesday's voted demand that Leake appear and that a nurse be furnished him, if necessary, for the trip.

Judge Louderback's trial is over alleged irregularity in his appointments of receivers and attorneys in bankruptcy cases since he became Federal judge.

Over bitterly voiced objections by counsel for the judge, the prosecutors from the House of Representatives were granted, by a 69-to-4 vote, the right to offer as evidence State records to show Leake and G. H. Gilbert, of San Francisco, were named to places by Louderback while he was a State judge.

These were highlight developments on the third day of the trial during which a number of witnesses familiar with the receivership cases involved paraded before the Senate in a continuous presentation of data.

MORE TROOPS RUSH TO HALT MILK WAR stronghold, to the Shawano city limits, deputies charged out with trucks.

Ordered to move, the strikers refused, whereupon the deputies donned gas masks and tossed bombs into the crowd.

68 Pickets Arrested.

A 5-mile chase ensued, with the pickets stopping occasionally to offer resistance. One, who refused to give his name, was injured when clubbed over the head. At the Shawano Hospital it was said he suffered from a possible skull fracture. Sixty-eight pickets were arrested.

The answer of State officials to the outbursts was the mobilization of more National Guardsmen. About half of the State's force of 5,000 troops is now on active duty, or in armories subject to instant call. The soldiers are not serving in military capacity, being hired, in groups, by counties calling for deputy sheriffs. Civil authorities remained in charge over the State.

As he issued orders for more mobilization Adjt. Gen. Ralph M. Immell warned instigators of violence and persons causing destruction would be arrested on charges of conspiracy against organized government.

Similarity of Outbreaks.

The similarity of outbreaks throughout the State, he said, indicated they were being directed by a single head. In the statement, Immell said "these violators of law" were "a part of a conspiracy against organized government."

Meanwhile, State authority apparently had given up all thought of negotiations with the Wisconsin milk pool, militant organization which sponsored the strike for higher dairy prices.

Gov. A. G. Schmedeman's last word to the pool, spoken yesterday, was "surrender unconditionally."

The pool spurned the suggestion, whereupon the governor, adjutant general and sheriffs started their stern measures to suppress violence.

MASS MEETING ASKS LOWER MILK PRICES

he expressed the opinion that the cost of distribution is too high.

His view was shared by Mr. Yaden, who said the residents of the District have no complaint to make with the price paid to the dairy farmer, but who declared that there is too wide a difference between the price paid the producer and that charged to the consumer.

"We do want a high quality of milk in Washington, he said, "but there is such a thing as getting standards so restricted as to add unjustifiably to costs." Before reductions were made in the Government employes' wages, he said, the employes did not mind paying 13 and 14 cents for milk, but now that their wages have been reduced it is necessary for every one to trim their budgets. The price now, he said, cuts deeply into the family budgets of every one.

A resolution was adopted protesting against high housing costs and asking a reduction in rentals. Those who spoke for rent reductions included Senator Capper, Representative Jennings Randolph (Democrat), of West Virginia, and Leo E. George, president of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks.

WHITE HOUSE GETS SHOALS BILL TODAY

House, 259 to 112, Finishes Congressional Action in Adopting Compromise.

(Associated Press.)

Congress put its final approval on the administration's vast Muscle Shoals-Tennessee Basin development bill yesterday and only President Roosevelt's signature remained to be affixed before the new law on the expanded war-time project takes effect.

House adoption, 259 to 112, of the Senate-approved conference report embodying the principal provisions of the Norris bill, ended congressional action. It was the first such bill to be approved by Congress that also was favored by the White House.

It fulfills a Democratic party platform pledge, carries out one of President Roosevelt's urgent requests for emergency legislation, and puts a Government corporation into the power production business.

Delayed by Adjournment.

Delay in sending the engrossed bill to the White House was caused by the early adjournment of the House, in respect to the death of Representative Brand, of Georgia, which prevented Speaker Rainey and Vice President Garner from affixing their signatures.

Chairman McSwain (Democrat), South Carolina, of the House Military Committee, who piloted the measure through the House, said after this technicality was disposed of today, the bill would be taken to the White House for Mr. Roosevelt's signature.

House action on the conference report came after an hour of debate. Representative Snell, of New York, Republican leader, demanded a roll call vote. Eleven Republicans and three Farmer-Laborites joined 245 Democrats in support of the bill, while 28 Democrats voted with 84 Republicans against it.

Board of Three Created.

The measure provides for the creation of a board of three, to be appointed by the President to direct the Tennessee Valley authority. This corporation would handle the vast project, including the production of power and fertilizer at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River, construction of a power dam on Cove Creek in Tennessee, and the building and purchase of transmission lines.

The House receded on the chief disputed points in the measure to accept with but minor changes the proposal of Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, outstanding proponent of Government ownership of power projects.

Republicans who voted for the bill were Boileau (Wisconsin), Chase (Minnesota), Gilchrist (Iowa), Kelly (Pennsylvania), Lemke (North Dakota), Peavey (Wisconsin), Reece (Tennessee), Sinclair (North Dakota), Taylor (Tennessee), Welch (California), and Withrow (Wisconsin).

Farmer-Laborites for—Arens, Johnson and Lundeen (Minnesota).

Kvale and Shoemaker, both Minnesota, Farmer-Laborites, were absent.

War Veteran Democrats To Hold Session Tonight

The War Veterans Democratic Club will hold a business meeting at 8:30 tonight at the headquarters, 1320 G street northwest. Representative William P. Connery, of Massachusetts, and Martin Smith, of Washington, will be guest speakers.

There will also be an entertainment program and dancing.

VETERANS DIVIDED OVER FARM RELIEF

proval was led by Ralph "Happy" L. Voight, reactionary St. Louisan, who holds the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery.

Payment of the bonus immediately met the unanimous approval of the session, and full restoration of disability benefits diminished under the President's economy measure was overwhelmingly approved.

James Ford Menaced.

The way the convention as a body regards the reforestation plan of the President was again illustrated yesterday when votes to accept it were scarcely heard in the din of negatives.

When J. C. Carter, a Kentucky Negro, tried to make a speech in favor of veterans taking advantage of the President's offer to veterans he was drowned by shouts of "Kill him" and "take him out."

Late in the afternoon James W. Ford, Communist candidate for Vice President last fall, was surrounded by an angry group of veterans who demanded his credentials when he appeared in the lobby. He was rescued by Policeman John Apostiliades, of the Crime Prevention Bureau.

Several men who were distributing the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, were rushed from the hall when they were discovered by the veterans.

YOUTH ADMITS TWO SLAYINGS, IS CLAIM

Mother and Daughter Killed Near Moorefield, W. Va., for 60 Cents, Is Story.

Moorefield, W. Va., May 17 (A.P.).—A 21-year-old youth admitted today, according to police, that he killed two women near here yesterday in a robbery that netted him 60 cents.

The youth, Omer Brill, said he shot Mrs. Love Burch, 55, when he thought she was reaching for a gun after he had ordered her to hand over money. The daughter, Esther, 17, was killed a few moments later when she ran to investigate her mother's screams.

Mrs. Burch was operating a small store in the Bean settlement, 12 miles east of Moorefield, during the absence of her husband, who had gone to another store they owned at Wardensville, W. Va., near the Virginia State line.

Brill told officers he fired ten times at the two women. He was taken to Keyser, W. Va., for safe keeping.

McMath Kidnaping Probe Nearing End

Barnstable, Mass., May 17 (A.P.).—The Barnstable County grand jury completed its third day of deliberation in the McMath kidnaping case today with an announcement by District Attorney William C. Crossley of Fall River that "We are very, very near the end of the investigation."

Crossley said he believed the jury would report before noon tomorrow. Judge Edward F. Hanify informed officials he would be on hand, prepared to hear the report.

Crossley said that tomorrow he intended to put at least two witnesses on the stand, including Neil C. McMath, father of the child who was kidnaped. McMath was on the stand for more than an hour today.

Message by Roosevelt Urging Work Creation

time has been our antitrust laws. They were properly designed as the means to cure the great evils of monopolistic price fixing. They should certainly be retained as a permanent assurance that the old evils of unfair competition shall never return. But the public interest will be served if, with the authority and under the guidance of Government, private industries are permitted to make agreements and codes insuring fair competition. However, it is necessary, if we thus limit the operation of antitrust laws to their original purpose, to provide a rigorous licensing power in order to meet rare cases of noncooperation and abuse. Such a safeguard is indispensable.

Program Plans Direct Employment.

The other proposal: II. Gives the Executive full power to start a large program of direct employment. A careful survey convinces me that approximately $3,300,000,000 can be invested in useful and necessary public construction, and at the same time put the largest possible number of people to work.

Provision should be made to permit States, counties and municipalities to undertake useful public works, subject, however, to the most effective possible means of eliminating favoritism and wasteful expenditures on unwarranted and uneconomic projects.

We must, by prompt and vigorous action, override unnecessary obstructions which in the past have delayed the starting of public works programs. This can be accomplished by simple and direct procedure.

In carrying out this program it is imperative that the taxes to be imposed are for the purpose of providing reemployment for our citizens. Provisions should be made for their reduction or elimination.

First—As fast as increasing revenues from improving business become available to replace them;

Second—Whenever the repeal of the eighteenth amendment now pending before the States shall have been ratified and the repeal of the Volstead act effected. The preprohibition revenue laws would then automatically go into effect and yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary reemployment taxes.

Finally, I stress the fact that all of these proposals are based on the gravity of the emergency and that therefore it is urgently necessary immediately to initiate a reemployment campaign if we are to avoid further hardships, to sustain business improvement and to pass on to better things.

For this reason I urge prompt action on this legislation.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Careful estimates indicate that at least $220,000,000 of additional revenue will be required to service the contemplated borrowings of the Government. This will of necessity involve some form or forms of new taxation. A number of suggestions have been made as to the nature of these taxes. I do not make a specific recommendation at this time, but I hope that the Committee on Ways and Means, of the House of Representatives, will make a careful study of revenue plans and be prepared by the beginning of the coming week to propose the taxes which they judge to be best adapted to meet the present need and which will at the same time be least burdensome to our people. At the end of that time, if no decision has been reached or if the means proposed do not seem to be sufficiently adequate or certain, it is my intention to transmit to the Congress my own recommendations in the matter.

Taxes Would Provide For Reemployment.

The taxes to be imposed are for the purpose of providing reemployment for our citizens. Provisions should be made for their reduction or elimination.

First—As fast as increasing revenues from improving business become available to replace them;

Second—Whenever the repeal of the eighteenth amendment now pending before the States shall have been ratified and the repeal of the Volstead act effected. The preprohibition revenue laws would then automatically go into effect and yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary reemployment taxes.

Finally, I stress the fact that all of these proposals are based on the gravity of the emergency and that therefore it is urgently necessary immediately to initiate a reemployment campaign if we are to avoid further hardships, to sustain business improvement and to pass on to better things.

For this reason I urge prompt action on this legislation.

organization of industry, through which each trade group will undertake definite cooperation to meet its own problems."

Confirming the widespread impression that the re-employment tax decided upon would be a general manufacturers' sales tax, Mr. Lund said in his formal public statement: "Whatever form of sales tax is adopted should displace the present special excise taxes."

Rules for Financing.

In its financing sections, the bill offers further assurances against currency inflation.

The Secretary of the Treasury is required to maintain a sinking fund of 2½ per cent a year against the emergency appropriations.

In his covering message, President Roosevelt set down the following explicit rule for sound financing:

"In carrying out this program it is imperative that the credit of the United States Government be protected and preserved. This means that at the time we are making these vast emergency expenditures there must be provided sufficient revenue to pay interest and amortization on the cost, and that the revenues so provided must be adequate and certain rather than inadequate and speculative."

Influential members of the House Ways and Means Committee anticipate that a general sales tax must be applied to finance the urgent recovery measure.

Whip Cracked on Taxes.

The White House has let it be known that it will not permit the gigantic recovery bill to be ensnarled in a protracted oratorical display regarding the essential taxes.

If Congress does not quickly come to agreement on the necessary revenues, Mr. Roosevelt will send up a specific and detailed tax program.

"I stress the fact that all of these proposals are based on the gravity of the emergency and that therefore it is urgently necessary immediately to initiate a reemployment campaign if we are to avoid further hardships, to sustain business improvement and to pass on to better things," President Roosevelt told Congress in his special message.

The public works section would establish a new bureau, the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works. The administrator and all his staff would be appointed directly by the President. Senate confirmation will not be required. Civil Service regulations shall not apply. State officers may be carried as emergency Federal employes. Blanket authority would be extended to the President to fix staff salaries, but the provisions of the minimum wage law shall govern all Government-aid contracts.

Scope of Works Included.

All sections of the act may be terminated by presidential edict when the emergency is declared at end. But on all contracts signed within the two-year period, agreed completion funds may be advanced by the Treasury up to Januar, 23, 1939.

The public works projects may include highways, parks, public buildings "and any publicly owned instrumentalities and facilities." Under this section, municipal public services would qualify for aids.

Other sections provide blanket authority for rivers and harbors works, land utilization, electrical transmission lines, slum-clearing projects and all types of works eligible for self-liquidating loans under the emergency relief act of 1932.

Additional authority is extended to build the Navy to full treaty strength, if the President so determines; or to build additional military airplanes, or motorized Army equipment such as tanks, howitzers, mounted artillery and heavy-traction field mortars.

Disarmament Provision.

In the event of international agreements limiting armaments, the President might suspend all or part of the military works thus launched.

Another section would authorize the administrator, with the approval of the President, to make direct public works grants to State and municipalities, covering up to 30 per cent of the local public works projects.

All contractual details regarding Federal aids and financing are left with the President.

To facilitate the acquisition of hold-out property essential to approved slum-clearance projects, the President would be specifically vested with the power of eminent domain.

Another section would authorize the sale or lease of any property constructed or acquired under the act.

Federal financial assistance also may be extended on any railroad project approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A permissive total of $400,000,000 is allocated for Federal-aid highways. Three-fourths of this sum may be assigned on the dollar-matching basis of the original roads act and the balance distributed as a direct Federal grant on the basis of relative State population.

This blanket authority also shall apply to State park systems approved by the Secretary of Agriculture as sections of the Federal highway program.

Within broad limits, all Federal-aid contracts shall call for a 30-hour work week. In employment the usual preference is extended to former service men.

The essential functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation touching public works and self-liquidating loans are to be transferred to the new administration.

MITCHELL SECURITY DEALING DESCRIBED

Witnesses Say Transaction With Wife Completed Without Money.

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—The United States Government laid the foundation today on which it seeks to prove that Charles E. Mitchell's transfer of $3,800,000 worth of National City Bank stock to his wife in 1929 was a spurious transaction to escape paying $728,709 income taxes that year.

The former chairman of the bank is also charged with evading a $129,719 income tax in 1930.

Three witnesses described the circumstances of the 1929 transaction and one of them, Edward F. Barrett, a vice president of the bank, who formerly was Mitchell's secretary and handled Mrs. Mitchell's business affairs, said no money passed between them.

Letters Identified.

Barrett identified photostatic copies of a letter from Mitchell to "Dear Elizabeth" and a letter from Mrs. Mitchell to "Dear Charles," by which the banker claims the deal was consummated. Barrett said Mitchell gave him the letters to file.

"Did he tell you to draw any money from her account in part payment?" asked United States Attorney George Z. Medalie.

"No," the witness replied.

"Did he tell you to sell any securities to provide payment?"

"No."

"Did he say anything to you at all about payment by Mrs. Mitchell?"

"No, sir."

Medalie brought out that Mrs. Mitchell's resources at that time amounted to about $950,000 and that in addition to the $3,800,000 which the stock would have cost the interest would run to $190,000 a year.

Bank Employes Witnesses.

The other two witnesses were bank employes. One witness was Leonard A. Keyes, office manager for J. P. Morgan & Co.

Keyes, under cross-examination by Steuer, read a long list of securities which at various times had been posted by Mitchell with J. P. Morgan & Co. as collateral on his loan, which began with nearly $12,000,000 after the crash in 1929.

This money, according to Steuer, was borrowed by Mitchell on his personal security in order that he might buy National City Bank stock and thereby help the National City Company, and its affiliate, to unload some of its stock without a loss, and also keep the price of the stock up.

In the list were thousands of shares of I. T. & T., United Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., American I. G. Chemical Co. and $50,000 worth of 4½ I. T. & T. bonds.

Conferees Deadlocked Over Gasoline Tax Bill

(Associated Press.)

House and Senate conferees yesterday were deadlocked on the Senate electrical tax provisions to the gasoline tax bill. Chairman Doughton (Democrat), North Carolina, of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the House conferees planned to continue to insist on their provision for a 3 per cent levy to be paid entirely by the producer.

The Senate measure provides that for domestic or commercial consumption, the producers pay a 2 per cent tax and that a 1 per cent levy would be assessed industrial consumers for the energy they used.

2-YEAR EXPERIMENT IN INDUSTRY ASKED through the Federal Trade Commission.

Prosecution of violators of the trade codes would fall to the United States district attorneys throughout the country in the routine way.

Violation of the approved codes would be a misdemeanor entailing a fine of $500 for each offense.

All codes of fair competition, as they are styled, are to be subject to the approval of the President, but only insofar as they apply to interstate commerce.

If the established trade associations are unable to promulgate approvable codes, the President, after due public hearings, may prescribe a mandatory code.

Along the lines of the farm bill, the President may enter into direct trade agreements with private organizations or associations when such action is held necessary to achieve the fundamental objectives of stabilizations.

Federal License Plan.

Under the Constitution, however, such authority is sharply limited to that portion of the industrial production which moves in interstate commerce.

Once the President approves a code, no one may operate under it without a Federal license. Violation of this section would entail a fine of $500, six months' imprisonment, or both.

Before applying for approval of trade codes, the associations would be required to file a declaration of policy and operating methods, as may be prescribed by the presidential regulations.

Section 7 would extend authority to the President to fix "maximum hours of labor, minimum rates of pay and other working conditions."

But it also provides that "every opportunity" first shall be afforded the trade association to fix its own conditions.

"The President is authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this title. * * * The President may from time to time cancel or modify any order, approval, license, rule or regulation issued under this title."

U. D. C. GROUP SUES TO RECOVER $4,000

R. F. C. Has Notes as Part of Security in Loan to Park Savings Bank.

The Robert E. Lee Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, yesterday brought suit in the District Supreme Court to recover $4,000 in first mortgage notes that are now being held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as part security for a loan made to the Park Savings Bank.

Through Attorney George D. Horning, the chapter alleged that the notes were left in the bank for the collection of interest only. The notes, it was charged, were in an envelope marked as the property of the chapter.

On February 28, it was learned, the petition said, that the $4,000 in notes, together with other securities worth $96,000, were turned over to the R. F. C. for a loan of $78,000. When the chapter learned that the notes were being held by the R. F. C., it instructed the maker of the notes, Mrs. Mary Wells, not to pay any additional interest until the matter was settled. Now, it is charged, foreclosure proceedings are threatened, and the court was asked to take immediate steps.

Justice James M. Proctor issued a rule on the Park Savings Bank and Richard L. Hargraves, the conservator, forcing them to show cause why $4,000 should not be paid to the chapter or the notes returned. The date for a hearing was set for May 26.

the banks concerned and the Washington public, at $25 per share.

The bank is described as the outgrowth of the combined efforts of Washington bankers and business men, with the cooperation of Treasury Department officials, to make immediately available the greatest amount of deposits, both checking and savings.

Most important in the announcement is an estimated statement of the financial condition of the five banks in the plan as at date of opening, based upon results of recent examinations of the participating banks. This shows the following:

Resources—Cash on hand and due from banks, $2,857,897; United States Government securities at market, $3,186,169; other bonds at market, $1,508,201; stock in Federal Reserve Banks, $37,500; loans and discounts, $3,471,894; 5 per cent redemption fund, $47,650; customers' liability under letters of credit, $21,900; total, $11,131,211.

Liabilities and capital: Deposits—Public, $1,914,104; individual, $6,992,207; total, $8,906,311; circulating notes outstanding, $953,000; letters of credit outstanding, $21,900; total liabilities, $9,881,211; capital, $1,000,000; surplus, $250,000; total, $11,131,211.

Branches Are Planned.

Reannouncing the main banking house of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., at 619 Fourteenth street northwest, as the main office of the proposed institution, it is stated that present plans provide for branches to be selected from the best locations of all participating banks. Joshua Evans, jr., president and conservator, District National Bank, and John Poole, president and conservator, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., are announced as vice presidents of the prospective bank. Other executives will be selected from the several banks, it was added, and the board of directors will be composed of prominent and influential local men. It is the present plan to have an advisory board for each branch giving special consideration to the most prominent and influential men in their respective communities.

Subscriptions to stock will be received at any of the offices of the participating banks. The committee in charge reserves the right to reject any applications it may not care to accept and to allot subscriptions in full or in part. In the sale of stock there will be no salesmen, no bonuses and no commissions.

"With the good will of at least 60,000 depositors," the prospectus states, "with executives of long experience and high standing, with branches in many excellent locations, with an earning power from the day of opening and a balanced budget, the ———— National Bank, will prosper from the very beginning."

Various Names Suggested.

The plan met with unanimous approval of the meeting. There was not a dissenting vote on any executive action. There were several selections as to the name of the new institution, but the final choice was unanimous. Names mentioned were "Central National Bank," "Hamilton National Bank," "United National Bank," "Colonial National Bank," "People's National Bank," "Consolidated National Bank."

Mr. Graham, the prospective president, presided and said it was incumbent on the directors of the institution involved to pay their depositors and stockholders every cent possible and dividends where possible. W. Irving Shuman, Treasury Department official, said that purpose back of the plan is essential.

Joseph P. Tumulty, a director of District National Bank and member of its reorganization committee, said the work of the group must be an effort to conserve the hope of men, women and children in American institutions in a great crisis, a fight to conserve the only things that are going to save America. He commended the choice of Mr. Graham as president.

L. P. Steuart, president, Northeast Savings Bank, latest institution to join the movement, told of its original plan, approved by the Treasury Department, to reopen as an individual bank, but said his directors had come to the conclusion that it was better to join the merger. He pledged cooperation of his institution, which has always been prosperous and paid dividends, as a branch of the new bank.

A message of Col. Robert N. Harper, former president of District National Bank, pledging his loyalty to the plan, was read, and Thomas E. Jarrell, president of Washington Savings Bank, said that in selling stock for the proposed institution the public "should be informed that it is to be the greatest institution in Washington." There were talks by Messrs. Poole, Evans and numerous other officers and directors of the five institutions concerned.

Support of the plan for the new bank was expressed in the following resolution by the Washington Clearing House Association and read at the meeting:

"It has come to the attention of the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association that the conservators and organization committee of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., the District National Bank, the Potomac Savings Bank and the Washington Savings Bank have agreed upon a plan to organize a new national bank with new capital, to be headed by Mr. Edwin C. Graham, for the purpose of making available at this time for banking purposes part of the deposits that are now in these closed banks by a transfer to the new bank of liquid and sound assets of said banks to the end that depositors therein may have the use of part of their deposit balances for the purpose of resuming banking relations.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association at a special meeting held Tuesday, May 16, 1933, that it is the sense of this association that the plan announced by the organizers of the proposed new bank should receive the support of the stockholders and depositors of the four banks above mentioned and any other banks now in the hands of conservators that may desire or be permitted to participate in the plan.

"Resolved, further, that the Washington (D. C.) Clearing House Association express its approval of any sound and constructive effort that may be made by capable and experienced bankers to make available for business and banking purposes all or any part of funds that are now tied up in banks in this city in the hands of conservators, as the release of all or any part of said deposits for business and banking purposes will be helpful to business and contribute to the welfare of thousands of our citizens."

Mr. Steuart and George F. Hoover, vice president and conservator of Northeast Savings Bank, were added to the organization committee of the new bank.

TWO CAPITAL WOMEN BOW BEFORE QUEEN

Misses Pearl and Wait Are Among 8 Americans at Buckingham Court.

London, May 17 (A.P.).—Eight American women made their bow to Queen Mary and the Duke of York in the third Buckingham Palace Court this evening. Two Washington, D. C., women were in the group.

The long weeks of preparation of gowns and practice in the curtsey and excitement over the approaching event were all over in one brief moment's pause before the throne while the queen and the princely duke smiled their polite approval.

The period of waiting which has been such a trial for debutantes in the past was shortened by nearly two hours tonight when the palace gates did not open until 7 o'clock.

Cars were allowed to drive immediately into the palace courtyard, out of sight of the curious, who in previous years rubbed their noses against limousine windows to view gorgeously dressed girlhood within.

The Prince of Wales did not attend the court this evening.

The Americans presented tonight are Mrs. Peter Arrington, Warrenton, N. C.; Mrs. Hugh Bullock and Miss Juliet Kaufman, of New York City; Miss Virginia Kent, Ardmore, Pa.; Miss May Henderson Osborne, Chicago; Miss Katherine Lahm Parker, Fort Sheridan, Ill.; Miss Audrey Warren Pearl and Miss Margaret Wait, Washington, D. C.

KING IN NEW ATTACK ON ALLEY DWELLINGS

Committee Chairman Would Publish List of Names of House Owners.

Chairman William H. King, of the Senate District Committee, yesterday opened a new line of attack on the owners of Washington's alley dwellings in his fight to clean up the city's inhabited alleys.

Following a protracted session on the Capper alley bill, he called on the District assessor for the names of landlords operating alley dwellings. He said he will make the names public.

Earlier, he sought the aid of Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate District appropriations subcommittee in an effort to write into the District appropriations bill a clause prohibiting payment of rent money by the Public Welfare Board to those on the relief rolls living in alley homes.

Rents as Cheap Elsewhere.

Witnesses before the committee yesterday testified that quarters may be rented just as cheaply in residential streets.

Senator King plans to call another meeting of the committee in the next few days to report the compromise alley bill worked out by Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride, and the National Park and Planning Commission officials, represented by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, and T. S. Settle, secretary.

The two groups presented alternative plans calling for appropriation of $500,000 now and another $1,000,000 next year for rehabilitating the alleys, or a single experimental appropriation with a view to later obtaining more funds on the strength of progress made.

In Public Works Scope.

Witnesses yesterday included Mr. Bride, Col. Grant, Mr. Settle, John Ihlder, housing expert; Walter S. Ufford, executive secretary of Associated Charities; Waddy B. Wood, architect; Maj. Clayton Emig, chairman of the city planning committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations; Evan H. Tucker, president of the Northeast Citizens Association, and James C. Wilkes, operative builder.

Col. Grant told the committee he thought the District's alley project might clearly come within the scope of the President's new $3,300,000,000 public works program. He said the committee should not shut the door to financial aid from that source, in any bill they might report out.

Students Meet to Hear Antiwar Talk Tonight

An antiwar meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Corcoran Hall of George Washington University under the auspices of the Liberal Club of the school.

The meeting was announced on the university campus by handbills which stated that the danger of war was imminent and that students were subjected to subtle forms of war propaganda in classrooms. Carl Geiser, student delegate to a South American antiwar conference, will address the meeting.

Gen. Campbell King Will Be Retired June 1

Maj. Gen. Campbell King, U. S. A., commandant of the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga., will be retired from active duty June 1, it was announced yesterday at the War Department. Gen. King would not have reached the statutory retirement age of 64 until 1935, but it is understood that he requested that he be retired, having completed more than 30 years of active duty.

One of the most distinguished officers in the Army, Gen. King was one time chief of staff of the Seventh Army Corps in France. He has been decorated with the French Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre, the Italian Order of the Crown and the Distinguished Service Medal.

THE FEDERAL DIARY

By GEORGE D. RILEY

ON APRIL 18, just one month ago, the Federal Diary built a Castle of Hope on a foundation of possibilities. True, it was made of flimsy material. This column held forth that the Federal employe might expect a return to former salary grades July 1, provided "if and when" national revenues increased. The forecast, an exclusive story in this column, is beginning to have a basis in fact.

From latest statistical reports, Federal receipts have mounted above a year ago. In eleven days of May miscellaneous internal revenue collections were $47,743,689, an increase of $12,776,752 over the same period of April. From July 1, 1932, to May 11, 1933, Government receipts were $1,716,238,281, a gain of $159,542, as compared with the corresponding period a year earlier. In the same period expenditures were $3,364,308,628, a drop of $898,800,456.

HUNTING headlines around the country discovers some of the following captions as directly significant: Philadelphia sales rise, pick-up in New England, steel leads in Cleveland, wide gains in St. Louis, Richmond gains continue, Dallas area feels upturn, Pacific Coast business picks up, renovize campaigns "going over," postal receipts (business barometer) show increase.

With all this apparent revival in industry, coupled with national appeals for retention of wage scales, it is not too early to open a campaign for the return of Government salaries to their prior basis; that is, to the time before the "economy" bombshell blasted and wrecked the domestic problems of the many. Surely, the Chief Executive will not turn a deaf ear to the condition nor permit Federal employes to watch the "Parade of Prosperity" without likewise allowing them to enjoy the fruits of general comforts to which their labor by all laws of economics entitle them.

And unless domestic problems are remembered "forgotten men and women" will remain just that.

ALTHOUGH he has been on the voting lists 20 years, Fred A. Waters, (*) rate examiner, claims division, G. A. O., has just cast his first ballot in a town election at Webster, Mass. Mr. Waters has voted at other elections, but never at an election to determine the officers of the town.

Mr. Waters is a voter by reason of his claim of Webster as his home. In all the time since he first registered, he has never before been present in Webster until this year, when he spent a few days' vacation there.

Although he has availed himself, like other Washingtonians, of the absentee voting privilege the same law does not apply in Webster to town elections and the voter must cast his ballot in person.

Efficient! Such is the impression one gains after calling upon Miss Della Adcock (*), Building F, Animal Husbandry Division, Agriculture, for information. She acts readily and helpfully. Miss Adcock is secretary to Dr. H. C. McPhee, in charge of genetics. Incidental to her other duties, she is custodian of photographs in that section. Her method of cataloguing prints, separately on cards, admits shuffling them into any desired classification—a system at once excellent for ready reference.

Diary Guest Tickets

IF your name in this column is followed by (*), or if your contribution appears, call on The Federal Diary Editor day of publication, except Sunday, between 4:30 and 5:15 p. m., and receive tickets to Loew's Fox, "The Warrior's Husband" (Elissa Landi), or Loew's Palace, "Reunion in Vienna" (John Barrymore and Diana Wynyard).

HOLE No. 11, par 4, for 385 yards, Indian Spring, where the Federal Diary's first annual golf tournament will be staged a week from today, will fool the average golfer, George Diffenbaugh, pro, warns.

"A long shot leaves the player in a position for an iron shot to an island green," says George.

"Completely surrounded by traps, this hole will fool the average golfer. A high iron will half nicely and the player has a putt for his 'birdie.'"

Date worth remembering: May 18, 1860—Lincoln nominated at Chicago for President.

These statements and figures were presented last night by Leo P. George, president N. F. P. O. C., at the A. F. G. E. meeting:

At a mass meeting held March 31, 1933, in McKinley Technical High School, under the auspices of the District department, A. F. G. E. questionnaires were distributed to the 1,500 people in attendance. The following is the result of the returns:

Average salary of all in attendance—1928, $1,994.54; 1932, $1,733.19; loss, 23.2 per cent. Average housing cost of all present—1928, $563.50; 1932, $584.91; increase, 3.8 per cent. Average of working days to provide quarters for year of all present—1928, 85 days; 1932, 101 days; increase 16 days. Average salary of all who are occupying same quarters both years—1928, $2,088.24; 1932, $1,808.76; loss 11.5 per cent. Average rent of those in same quarters—1928, $595.19; 1932, $642.56; increase 7.9 per cent. Average of working days to provide for same quarters—1928, 85 days; 1932, 108 days; increase 23 days. Average salary of those in same apartment for both years—1928, $1,916.03; 1932, $1,765.67; loss, 8.4 per cent. Average rent of same apartment in the two years—1928, $550.85; 1932, $578.03; increase, 4.9 per cent. Average of working days to provide for same apartment—1928, 86 days; 1932, 99 days; increase, 13 days.

Calle Carello, demon camera man in the Department of Agriculture, went and did it last week behind closed doors. All his friends were waiting for the wedding day in June, too. Anyway, they are all offering congratulations mingled with wise ejaculations. Good luck Calle 'cause from now on "a little blonde shall lead you."

HAD the pleasure of meeting John H. Lloyd, Office of Education. He has that friendly smile and greeting, an asset wherever and whenever. . . And can you remember when the real big baseball games were played in Potomac Park. And how the fields were packed with onlooking humanity. We might say, and will, that Paul C. Croghan, Commerce, learned most of the baseball he knows on those diamonds. . . Strange, with all the saving and economy some one hasn't thought to agitate daylight saving here. . . Another pay day, another bridge of sighs, not because the pay was any less—or more, but there weren't any pink slips, despite rumors here and there in this department that there would be pink slips. . . And the quotation on rose-colored glasses remains steady. . . Henry O'Malley, recent Fisheries commissioner, honor guest at Izaak Walton luncheon. . . Mrs. Roumain Vaughn (*), Mines, back from home in Pennsylvania. . . Marine Corps golf tourney may become water polo if the rain keeps raining. . . And sty rhymes with eye. And that's why Chief Q. M. Clerk B. D. Goodwin, U. S. M. C., is laid up. . . Clerks in A. & I. Department, Marine Corps, busy preparing estimates for 1935. And yet, we don't know what they can spend in 1933. Isn't life like that?

They've hunted for folks with a pick and a net for doing less. Little Willie Becker, Electrical, Commerce, poured himself a bit of gasoline on some smoldering trash backyardway the other day, dug for a match, stopped, thought—thought of his 15 per cent pay crimp—and then struck the match. Whuf! like that. He'll be back to work end of the week. . . . Miss Marie Swain, Correspondence Division, Commerce. She has a horse in her back-yard. Let's hope Congress, et als, never heard about it though. But Marie has a horse and she'll probably use some administrative furlough for herself that way.

A. W. Cowles, retired, U. S. Patent Office, dropped in yesterday to say "Hello" to Division 39 of which he was primary examiner before his retirement—thanks to the economy act of last year. He and Mrs. Cowles, a bride of a few months, are looking well. What is that? How old is she? Say ——! Mr. Cowles is spending his retirement and honeymoon in Atlantic City, N. J., where, he says, "offshore" means inland.

Miss Ethel N. Jett (*), Biological Survey, Agriculture, is a member of the walk-to-work club (because of "economy" now growing in popularity). She is especially fond of air and sunshine. On reaching the South Building, her official station, she enters the far eastern entrance from Fourteenth street so that, as she says, she can "get more air."

SPEEDING INDUSTRY WARNED BY ROPER

Advises Overtime Plants to Spread Work to Avoid Effect of Reactions.

As increased activities in some industries resulted in 24-hour operation of factories, the administration yesterday warned these plants to make sure that such overtime will not force shutdown when the demand is satiated. At the same time, a generally rosy report of business conditions was made.

It was pointed out that the orders may be the result of deferred buying, and that future demand may be slackened when the shortage is made good. Where possible, plants should "spread out their increased manufacturing activities so as to mitigate the effect of seasonal or other reactions," Secretary of Commerce Roper said.

Secretary Roper said that President Roosevelt expects to pass on the general Federal reorganization scheme and send it to Congress this week.

Steel Activity Booms.

The Secretary also revealed yesterday that steel mill activity is higher than at any time since the first part of 1931. Retail trade has increased, and the turnover of bank deposits is following a seasonal pattern, being 16 per cent below the figure a year ago.

Increasing retail activity has caused a price gain of about 8 per cent over the March low level, although the monetary situation and buying deferred from March has been partially responsible.

From the Postoffice Department came the cheering word that postal receipts, generally regarded as a good business barometer, showed a gain in April for the first time since the beginning of the depression.

Woodin Optimistic.

Secretary Woodin yesterday said advices to the Treasury showed both business and industry had moved ahead in recent weeks, adding that "the forward movement has been under way for some time."

"I have talked with all the members of the Federal advisory council who were here yesterday and today, and they said conditions were splendid and everybody reported progress," Woodin said.

Only $1,500,000,000 of deposits remains tied up in closed national banks, he said, while $17,000,000,000 has been released.

The first figures issued by the renovated statistical bureau of the Labor Department were made public by Secretary Perkins, showing some employment gains in April as compared with March, but with the level still below February.

43 Forest Recruits Made Ill From Food

Sulphur, Okla., May 17 (A.P.).—Forty-three recruits in the forest conservation corps were stricken with a stomach ailment last night but they returned to duty in Platt National Park today fully recovered.

Officials said food brought from Fort Sill apparently caused the illness, but they had not fixed the exact blame.

MUSANTE KIDNAPING CASE BRANDED HOAX

Investigation of Story Told by Girl Is Dropped by Court Order.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 17 (A.P.).—Active investigation of the alleged kidnaping of Caroline Musante was brought to an abrupt end today when Judge Frederick W. Coleman informed Commonwealth's Attorney G. B. Wallace, of Stafford County, he believed the case was a "hoax."

The jurist called the story of a key witness "incredible" and said the State would not bear the expense of further investigation. Mr. Wallace then said the case would be held in abeyance, but could be reopened in case of tangible developments.

It was indicated that charges against William Kendall, 23, and Harvey Otis, 26, seamen arrested in Baltimore and New York, respectively, would be dropped. Kendall recently was released in the care of his attorney after an extradition hearing.

Mr. Wallace said he believed part of the story told by the girl, but Judge Coleman classed as "incredible" the account Ray Hagy, reputed to be a Calvin County (Ky.) deputy sheriff, gave of having received threatening notes at a hotel here.

Hagy told of being in company with J. L. Conway, traveling shoe salesman, when he said Conway gave Kendall and Otis a ride in the vicinity of the Musante home on February 1, the day before Caroline was found tied to a tree. At an extradition hearing before Gov. Ritchie, in Baltimore, last week Hagy failed to identify Kendall.

The girl, after being found tied to a tree near her home, told officers she had been kidnaped by two men who stopped her on her way to school. She said they had held her prisoner for several hours and questioned her about the infant of a neighbor's family.

Chief of New Cruiser To Go to Building Site

Capt. Allen B. Reed, U. S. N., member of the General Board of the Navy, has been ordered to duty in connection with the fitting out of the new heavy cruiser New Orleans, it was learned yesterday at the Navy Department.

Capt. Reed will command the New Orleans when she is placed in commission about December 1. He was born in Liberty, Mo., April 3, 1884, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from Missouri in 1900. He served throughout the World War. He came here on duty in the office of Naval Operations in 1930, and became a member of the General Board last February. He makes his home at 3101 Woodley road northwest.

You've seen Kelvinator lead in high quality, dependable electrical refrigeration for over 19 years. Now AGAIN comes GREATER EASE OF PURCHASING FOR YOU through Kelvinator's acute realization of your NEED for ease and convenience in purchasing. Kelvinator is the LEADING nationally advertised, fully guaranteed, high quality refrigerator on the market today that may be purchased on this basis. KELVINATOR SCOOPS AGAIN!

Things We COULD have done . . . BUT DIDN'T . . .

We could have offered you a new, unfried refrigerator, deliberately built down to this $98 price. We didn't.

We could have adopted a cheaper type of power plant. We didn't. The mechanical unit is of exactly the same type as that in the highest-priced Kelvinator.

We could have used a smaller, less powerful motor and compressor. By running all the time, or most of the time, such a power unit would have provided a certain degree of refrigeration. It would have cost us less to build. But it would have cost YOU a lot more in the long run since a machine that runs only a third of the time will last a lot longer than one that runs continuously. We did not compromise.

We could have built a smaller cabinet, with less insulation. We didn't. This model is full size.

We could have cheapened, substituted, reduced size, power and capacity—to meet a price. We didn't. Instead, we offered you OUR kind of a refrigerator—a standard 1933 Kelvinator—at YOUR price.

BRAND, DEMOCRATIC LEADER, SUCCUMBS

House and Senate to Send Four Georgians to Rites in Athens Tomorrow.

Athens, Ga., May 17 (A.P.).—Representative Charles H. Brand, 72, ranking Democrat on the House Banking Committee and a member of the National House since 1917, died at his home here today after an illness of several months.

Mr. Brand, representative from the Tenth Georgia District, was granted an indefinite leave of absence last December and was never able to return to his duties in Washington. His illness prevented him from taking his seat in the present special session of Congress, although he was administered the oath by Judge Blanton Portson at his home.

The Democratic membership in the National House was reduced to 310 with Mr. Brand's death. There are 117 Republicans, 5 Farmer-Laborites and 3 vacancies.

Gov. Eugene Talmadge will decide later on the time for a special election to fill the seat left vacant by Mr. Brand, whose term would have expired in 1934.

The representative was born April 20, 1861, at Loganville, Ga. He was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1881 and was admitted to the bar in 1882. Four years later he married Miss Estelle Winn. Two daughters, Luelle (Mrs. Moreton M. Rolleston) and Julia (Mrs. Bolling Hall Sasnett) were born of that marriage. Ten years after his first wife died, Mr. Brand married Miss Mary Dixon Hutchins, who died in 1912, leaving a daughter, Mary Caroline (now Mrs. P. H. Mell).

Funeral services will be held at the Athens First Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, Friday, at noon. Interment will follow in the Lawrenceville (Ga.) Cemetery.

(Associated Press.)

The House late yesterday adopted a resolution expressing regret at the death of Representative Brand and adjourned in his honor. Speaker Rainey named Representatives Wood and Parker, of Georgia, to represent the House at the funeral services.

The Senate also adjourned in respect to the late House member. Vice President Garner named Senators George and Russell to the funeral committee.

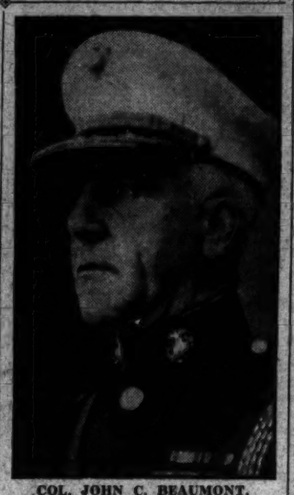
Col. Beaumont Is Ordered To Command 4th Marines

Leader of Troops at Navy Yard Transferred to Shanghai Station.



COL. JOHN C. BEAUMONT.

Col. John C. Beaumont, United States Marine Corps, now in command of the Marine Barracks at the navy yard here, has been ordered to China to command the Fourth Regiment of Marines, it was announced yesterday at Marine Headquarters.

Col. Beaumont will succeed the late Col. Fred D. Kilgore, U. S. M. C., who died in Shanghai this week. He will sail from the West Coast about June 24 for China.

The remains of Col. Kilgore will be sent to the United States on the S. S. President Taft, leaving Shanghai May 23. At the request of Mrs. Kilgore, who will accompany the body to the United States, interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery. The date of the funeral and details of the service have not yet been arranged.

Col. Beaumont assumed his present command at the local Navy Yard on July 1, 1931. He was born here October 7, 1878, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps February 12, 1900. He has served aboard the U. S. S. Southery, the U. S. S. Georgia and from June, 1923, until October, 1925, he served on board the U. S. S. Seattle as fleet marine officer and aid on the staff of the commander in chief of the United States fleet. He later served on the U. S. S. Texas in the same capacity.

Col. Beaumont has served in the Philippines, the West Indies, Nicaragua, Honolulu, and during the Mexican nad Haitian campaigns. He is a graduate of the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., and the Army War College here. He has also completed the course at the Army School of the line.

Col. Beaumont will be relieved of the command of the Marine Barracks here by Col. William P. Upshur, U. S. M. C., who is now attending the Army War College.

Illness Postpones Trial of Shoemaker

Because of his ill health, Representative Francis H. Shoemaker, Farmer-Laborite, of Minnesota, yesterday was given a two-week continuance when he appeared in Police Court to answer a charge of assaulting Theodore H. Cohen, a neighbor, in the Chastelton Hotel several weeks ago.

The assault is alleged to have occurred when Cohen refused to shut off his radio at the request of the representative.

Aid Organizations Given Use of Lansburgh House

The new headquarters of the Community Chest Applications Bureau and the Travelers Aid Society, 1018 Vermont avenue northwest, was opened yesterday afternoon. Presentation of the quarters for the use of the two organizations, rent free, was made by Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, acting for the Gustav and Louisa Lansburgh estate. The quarters have been officially christened the "Lansburgh House."

Mrs. Stephens was 69 years old. She was born in St. Louis, Mo., and came here in her girlhood. She was a graduate of Wilson Normal School and taught in various schools throughout the city until 1900, when she married Mr. Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens was a member of All Souls' Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets northwest, and for many years was active in church circles here. She had been in failing health for several years.

May Day Fete Held By Wilson Students

Titania, Queen of the Fairies, was honored by Robin Hood and his merry men at a May day fete yesterday afternoon, presented by students of Wilson Teachers College at the Sylvan Theater.

The play, as arranged by Alfred Noyes, pictures Sherwood Forest invaded by Titania and the fairies, who encounter Robin Hood and his men. The fantasy is climaxed with the marriage of Prince John, played by William Schutt, to Maid Marian, played by Mary Poole Shannon.

Sarah Stryker took the part of the Queen of the May, and Mildred Koons, Titania. Other principal parts were: Shadow of the Leaf, Mildred Smith; Much, the Miller's son, Irvine Irving; Pitzwalter, Father of Marian, Oliver Wheeler; Robin Hood, Louis Allen; Friar Tuck, David Teeple; Widow Scarlet, Helen Bovey; Sheriff, George Butler; Little John, John Zauner; Queen Elinor, Genevieve Menah; Jenny, Marian's maid, Helen Hutchison, and King Richard, George Kileen.

Boys Club Obtains Sporting Facilities

While lack of finances will prevent the operation of the Boys Club camp on the Wicomico River this summer, the members will not be hampered by lack of outdoor facilities due to an arrangement made by Charles M. Fyfe, club director, with Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d whereby Seaton Park, located west of the Botanical Gardens, is to be turned over to the club during the summer. The park contains two baseball diamonds and other sport facilities.

Mr. Fyfe also has obtained the use of the municipal swimming pools near the Washington Monument from 10 a. m. to 12 noon Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings weekly. At the Saturday morning session there will be swimming and life-saving instructions.

The Jewish Community Center, which, like the Boys Club, is a member of the Community Chest, has offered the use of its pool to the club on Monday and Wednesday nights, and Mr. Fyfe has also obtained from the Y. M. C. A. the use of the pool in the boys department from 7 to 8 each Saturday night.

CLINTON W. GILBERT, NOTED WRITER, DIES

Author of "Mirror Books" and Magazine Articles Succumbs in Hospital.

Clinton W. Gilbert, 61, prominent political writer and chief of the Washington bureau of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, died late yesterday from pneumonia in Emergency Hospital. He became ill last Saturday and was removed to the hospital only two days ago from his home at 1222 Connecticut avenue.

Born in Long Island, N. Y., July 25, 1871, Mr. Gilbert was educated at the University of Rochester. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Gridiron Club.

After being affiliated with several New York papers in various capacities, Mr. Gilbert came to Washington in 1918 as correspondent for the Public Ledger. Widely traveled and always a close student of politics, he was recognized as one of the leading political analysts and publicists.

He wrote a daily political column for both the Public Ledger and the New York Evening Post, and wrote magazine articles, being a weekly contributor to Collier's. He was also the author of "The Mirror of Washington" and "Behind the Mirrors," two books that attracted unusual attention when published anonymously more than a decade ago. He is survived by his second wife and seven children.

Mr. Gilbert married Adelia K. Brainerd, of New York, in 1899. He is survived by his second wife, the former Pauline Clarke, of Washington, whom he married in 1922, and their daughter, Pauline, and six grown children.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but the services probably will be held tomorrow.

Navy Band Orchestra Program.

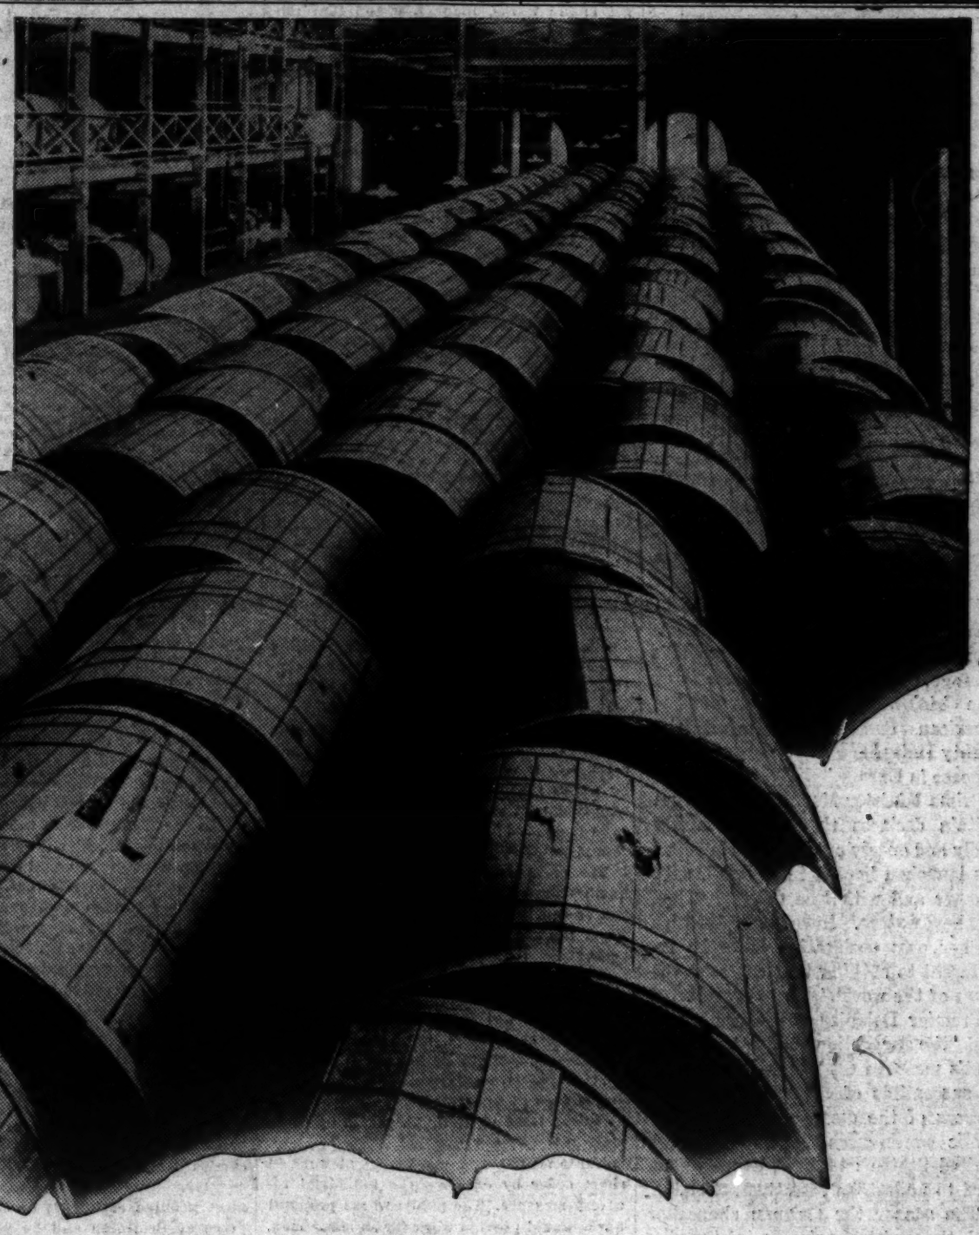
For Chesterfields to Satisfy



It takes barrels of money —

— put away for 30 months

THEY ARE MILD and yet they Satisfy

Four miles of warehouses are used to store our tobaccos. The crops now in storage are worth about $70,000,000... most of it for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

The Domestic kinds are packed away in wooden hogsheads that weigh 1,000 pounds and stand as high as a man's head.

Like fine wine, tobacco improves with age. So after our buyers select, from the various markets, the right kind of tobacco for Chesterfield, we put it away for 30 months or more to become mellow and sweet.

This ageing process is expensive, but there is no short-cut to make tobaccos milder—to make them taste better. It just takes money and time to make Chesterfields.

HITLER AND ROOSEVELT.

Germany's dictator has spoken, and what he says encourages the hope that the disarmament conference will proceed on the lines proposed by President Roosevelt in an endeavor to do away with the dangers of aggression, to give to every nation a sense of security, and to reduce the cost of armaments.

Chancellor Hitler states the case of Germany with clearness and force. The logic of his position can not be denied. He will agree to the complete mutual disarmament of nations. He will adhere to a pact of nonaggression. He will co-operate in the disarmament conference for this purpose. But he insists that Germany shall not be kept disarmed while other nations refuse to disarm. He suggests, although he does not demand, that while other nations are revising arms downward, Germany should be allowed to revise upward to meet them. This suggestion will fall upon deaf ears, as he well knows, but it strengthens his hold upon German public opinion, and doubtless he makes it for that purpose. His eloquent statement of Germany's struggle against adversity must have found an echo in German hearts.

In France the Hitler statement is considered as conciliatory, but with characteristic caution the French government will judge Hitler by his actions at the disarmament conference rather than by his words.

Americans are greatly interested in the construction which foreign spokesmen place upon President Roosevelt's message. Herr Hitler describes it as "the high-minded proposal of the American President to inject the mighty United States as the guarantor of peace in Europe."

Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain declares that "America has boldly and openly cut her moorings and has launched herself in full sail, with courage and with fine determination, into new waters. Henceforth America by her own declaration is to be indifferent to nothing that concerns the peace of the world."

Premier Daladier of France states that "the suggestions which the President's message contains will certainly be susceptible of contributing to the success of the disarmament and economic conferences. Once again the United States and France are in accord to undertake effective action."

The sooner the German chancellor and the British prime minister disabuse their minds as to the willingness of the United States to guarantee the peace of Europe and to cut all moorings in a voyage into new waters the better will be the prospect of an agreement at Geneva. It is possible that Chancellor Hitler deliberately exaggerates the meaning of what President Roosevelt has said, in order to bring out further information as to how far the United States will go in the direction of political co-operation in Europe. Mr. MacDonald ought to know that his exaggeration is likely to chill the enthusiasm of Americans instead of kindling it. If they thought that President Roosevelt's measured words really concealed a purpose to guarantee the peace of Europe or to embark this country upon untried political seas they would reconsider their approval of the message.

The French premier strikes the right note when he describes the message as susceptible of contributing to the success of disarmament and economic progress. The message deserves to be read for what it says, and not for what it refrains from saying. Chancellor Hitler will be following a false path if he assumes in the disarmament conference that the United States will join in a pact undertaking to guarantee the peace of Europe. The President would not negotiate such a pact, nor would the Senate ratify it. But if a general pact of nonaggression should be negotiated it would doubtless be approved by the American Government and people. A pact of that nature might tend to preserve the peace of Europe, but it would not bind the United States to guarantee peace.

TO EXPEDITE RECOVERY.

President Roosevelt's "re-employment campaign," which he formally launched yesterday, consists of two distinct projects. The first is designed to modify operation of the antitrust laws so that industries may join in cooperative efforts, under Government supervision, to eliminate unfair competition and increase employment. The second is a gigantic public works program in which the Government undertakes to create jobs on borrowed money. Both projects are of far-reaching importance to the American people.

The industrial cooperation measure has the unquestioned support of American business leaders. It would give trade groups an opportunity to work out their own problems with the aid and supervision of the Government. Reckless minorities could be restrained from lowering wages, flooding the market, or resorting to other unfair practices in this emergency period. Competition would still be enforced under the antitrust laws, but it would be competition of a healthful variety, based on quality, service, reliability and appeal to public taste.

Undoubtedly a great stabilizing influence can be introduced into business and industry in this way. Business men are waiting. They need assurances before they are willing to go forward with normal transactions. If they are able to cooperate on such matters as wages, output, hours of work, &c., uncertainty and lack of confidence may be largely overcome. What the country needs most of all is a sound basis on which private enterprise may go forward. It is utterly impossible to absorb the unemployed millions in any other way. Congress should be able to whip this measure into acceptable form without delay and to give the country the benefit of immediate cooperative action.

President Roosevelt's other project, however, raises many doubts. Experience has shown that considerable time is required to get public works under way and that the amount of employment they provide is always disappointing. Vast sums of borrowed money are spent without changing in any way the nature of the basic unemployment difficulties that must ultimately be overcome.

Aside from these difficulties, the President's plan of public works is threatened with delay because of the necessity of providing revenue. Mr. Roosevelt estimates that a tax revenue of $220,000,000 will be needed to service the contemplated bond issues. He makes no recommendations as to what form the new taxes should take. The whole question is left to Congress for the present, and congressional opinion is split a dozen ways.

Only a tax that is certain to produce the specified amount of revenue will serve the purpose. That requirement points definitely to the sales tax. But several groups in Congress are still hostile to the sales tax, and the President is known to dislike it. If Congress should be unable to agree upon a tax measure by next week, the President will submit his own recommendations. But in the meantime a row may develop, thus endangering the entire reconstruction measure.

In the language of the President, "It is imperative that the credit of the United States Government be protected and preserved." This suggests that the President will not approve a public works program without a special tax for amortization purposes. If Congress is unable to agree upon a tax levy it will have to abandon the public works scheme. But there is no reason why that part of the bill allowing industry to cooperate for its own improvement should be delayed.

The essence of this program is the rehabilitation of private industry. If that objective can be attained, it will create many times the number of jobs that can be expected from public works. The public works section should be divorced from the main provisions of the bill, so that the entire program will not be engulfed in a controversy over taxation. The public interest demands immediate action on the industrial cooperative measure. Action on the public works issue must necessarily be postponed at least until funds are in sight to make a bond issue practical.

Three million men can be put at work in short order by enacting the industrial recovery measure. The public works proposal never would provide work for so many men, and there would be considerable delay in employing even 100,000. So it is advisable to separate the two proposals and make the industrial recovery proposal a law immediately.

TIME FOR FIRMNESS.

An interesting experiment is being conducted by President Roosevelt with the bonus army at Fort Hunt. The veterans are being housed and fed at the expense of taxpayers in the hope that their stay in Washington may be short and that the demand for immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus may be reduced to a formal petition. While accepting the hospitality of the Government, the veterans are smarting under the terms of their agreement.

Their convention was scheduled to adjourn today. Now an extension of time until Monday has been granted. The veterans have agreed to adjourn, yet fiery speeches are heard to the effect that they will not leave Washington until the bonus is paid. Some orators go so far as to threaten that 500,000 unemployed men will gather in Washington if the Government refuses to comply with the convention's demands. At the Fort Hunt camp a majority sentiment against leaving Washington has been expressed. It appears that the veterans are trying to intimidate the administration into granting them further hospitality at Fort Hunt.

President Roosevelt's offer to give 25,000 veterans jobs in the woods was rejected with great disdain. These veterans came to Washington to get their bonus. They are not looking for work. The refusal to accept jobs characterizes the bonus-seeking army better than anything else could.

The bonus army may be expected further to impose upon the good nature of President Roosevelt, if he is disposed to permit it. The first agreement was broken. Efforts doubtless will be made to break the second. The Government may find it necessary to escort the bonus army out of the city on Monday. If so, it is to be hoped that there will be no hesitation. It is a bad precedent for the Government to support lobbyists out of the Federal Treasury for even a brief period. If their stay should be prolonged every disgruntled and destitute group in the country would descend upon Washington. It remains to be seen what influence the entertainment of the veterans during the period of their "convention" will have upon other factions that plan marches on Washington to intimidate the Government.

STOPPING PUBLIC WORKS.

As a result of the failure of Congress to provide the necessary funds for continuing the five-year plan for housing the Army several hundred employes of the Quartermaster General's office will be furloughed for one year from July 1.

Practically every architect, architectural draftsman, sanitary engineer, electrical engineer and engineer of heating is included in the list of those who have been advised to look for other employment. Besides those employed in Washington the furloughs apply to scores of superintendents of construction and the large forces under them at the various Army posts, at which new housing operations have been started or are in course of preparation.

In view of the fact that the Government is proposing to expend billions in public works in an effort to reduce unemployment to the minimum it would appear inconsistent that the authorities should stop the work of constructing necessary buildings for the officers and enlisted men at the Army posts, especially when it is remembered that the so-called "five year plan" has congressional approval. By supplanting the inadequate and antiquated buildings now in use the annual saving in maintenance costs would be from 10 to 30 per cent annually.

GERMAN PRIVATE DEBTS.

The parting message of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who came to Washington for the German conversations with President Roosevelt, was delivered in his capacity as president of the Reichsbank. It was in the form of an invitation to the American bankers who floated the long-term German bonds to meet in Berlin to "advise" foreign debtors and for consultation regarding Germany's changed position with regard to foreign exchange. It is with some misgivings that the bankers will attend the session, which has been set for May 26.

With the imminent passage of the security bill by Congress, which carries with it provision for the establishment of a foreign bondholders' committee under Government auspices, it was hoped that the American holders of German bonds would be able to place their interests in charge of this new agency, and that it might not be necessary for them to take direct action. The bankers who handled the distribution of the German industrial issues have no authority to represent or bind the present holders of those bonds to any action. There has been no request for a deposit of bonds and no concerted action taken for their representation.

Notwithstanding the assurance from Dr. Schacht that the prospective meeting is merely one of consultation, there is no disguising the apprehension in New York financial circles that, in line with the official European spirit regarding obligations to America, the debtors would propose decided changes in interest payments and principal as well. That there will also be called a meeting to reconsider the standstill agreement on short-term credits is also anticipated. It seems certain that, owing to the shortage of foreign exchange, all interest on the standstill credits will be paid in blocked marks. While Dr. Schacht acknowledged that no real agreement could be reached at the meeting he has called in Berlin there is a general feeling that American creditors and bondholders will be informed as to just how little they can expect.

JOHN GRIER HIBBEN.

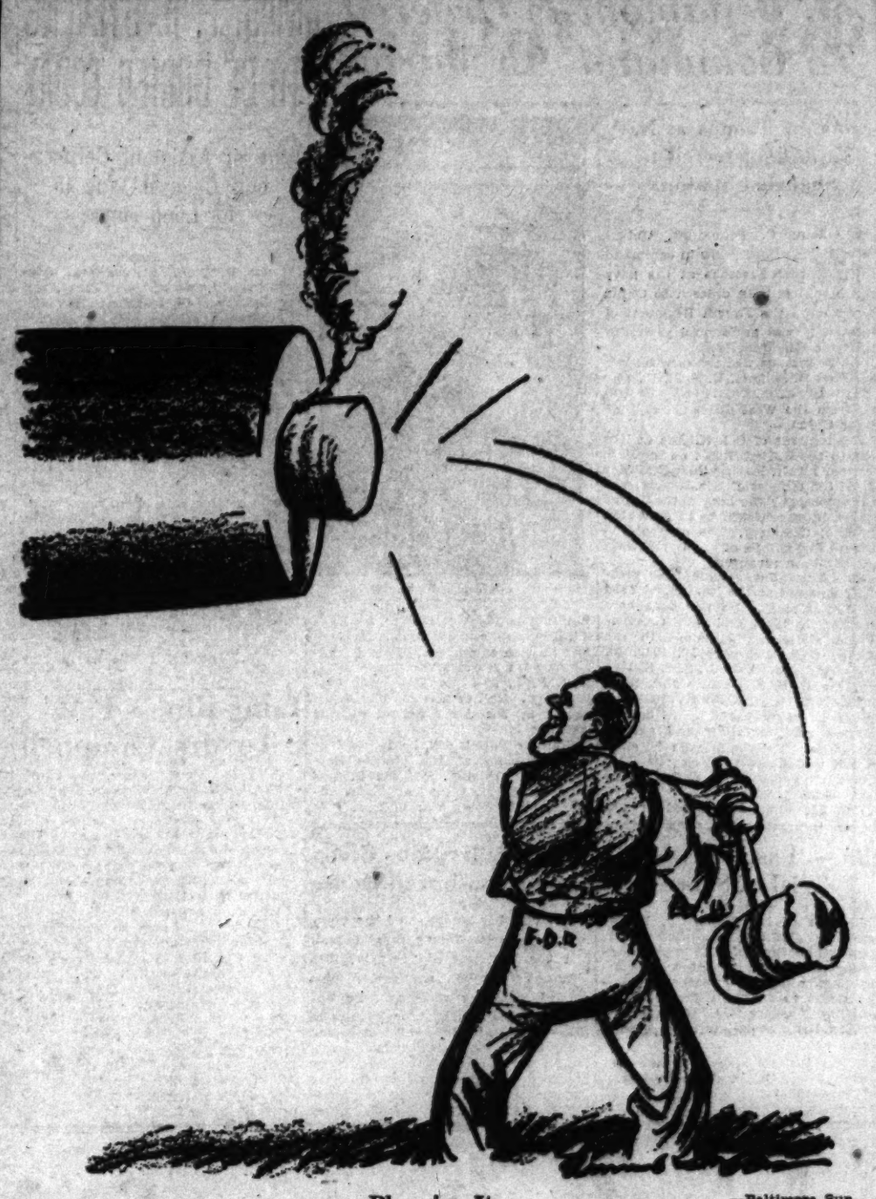
The death of Dr. John Grier Hibben, president emeritus of Princeton University, carries a sense of loss to all parts of the country. Dr. Hibben was one of America's most genuine exponents of culture. Fifty years at Princeton and 20 years as president of that institution gave him a prestige that reached throughout the scholastic world.

Dr. Hibben was a practical inspirer of youth. He urged students to work their way through college, fostered athletics, and established close personal contacts with his students. Yet he was a genuine apostle of culture. In this present era of economic distress when the people are inclined to believe that the world is upside down, he quietly emphasized the permanent values of character and intellectual attainment above material wealth.

On more than one occasion Dr. Hibben has spoken like a voice crying in an intellectual wilderness. In the midst of economic debris he has pointed to indestructible values. He viewed the money craze as depriving human beings of the most satisfying and valuable elements of life. Keeping aloof from the scramble for material possessions he was able to place a realistic value upon these things. Unperturbed by speculative fever, by temporary pessimism, by fads of policy or philosophy, Dr. Hibben devoted himself to the intrinsic elements of human achievement rather than economic accessories of life.

It is ironical that an educator so devoted to cultural pursuits should become a victim of a symbol of the machine age. Yet the manner of his death is incidental. Dr. Hibben's influence in calming the world's economic mania will long be felt after the present sense of tragedy in his death has passed away.

What's the use of asking Japan to sign a nonaggression pact, or any other pact?



Plugging It. —Baltimore Sun.

POST HASTE.

Did the President recognize Russia, or did he just give her one of those non-committal smiles?

The world held its breath waiting for Hitler's speech and then found itself right where it was on Tuesday.

Anyhow, it was thoughtful of Adolf to tell Papa Hindenburg he was going to make a spiel.

The application of economies is lifting the face of the budget, but bookkeeping manipulation does even more.

By just deleting the demands for arms equality and treaty revision the Hitler statement is all harmony.

A district judge has declared the beer law unconstitutional. If this is sustained can you imagine the mess? No wonder Roosevelt urges speed in repeal votes.

All the jury will have to do in the trial of Banker Mitchell is to determine from the evidence whether the sale of stock to his wife was "moral and legal" or "sham and fraud."

The atmosphere at Fort Hunt develops the imagination. The vets there think up new demands to make every day.

Japan hasn't another Pu-Yi for North China, but apparently will do the best she can with Whang Fu.

American bankers are going to Berlin to "consider" private debts. Let's see, what was the reparation settlement—10 per cent?

The President wants those three billions plus for relief pronto, with no strings to them, and particularly no red tape.

The last Democratic occupant of the White House said he had a one-track mind; the present one is happiest when he keeps national and international traffic hustling both ways on a four-track system.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A SIMPLE SUPPER.

Last night we had for supper pork and beans and bread and tea,
And I did some overeating, which is rather strange for me,
For the beans were cooked by mother, and since she was firts a bride,
I've always liked to see her with the teapot at her side.

I forgot the spastic something that has troubled me for years,
And the nervous indigestion, with its multitude of fears.
I forgot the doctor's orders to beware of this and that,
And remembered, rather strangely, our first Fourteenth avenue flat.

We were young and brave and struggling and had debts we hoped to pay,
With the future all before us, and we supped the self-same way.
And we planned and dreamed and wondered, and with high hope sat us down,
To tea and bread and butter and to beans and molasses brown.

Well, we're back once more to planning and to dreaming as of old,
We are looking to the future and some rainbow's pot of gold,
And so filled with true contentment did that mealtime seem to be That, against the doctor's orders, I took three good cups of tea.

Training Can't Develop a Winning Army If It Uses Bows and Spears.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

HUMAN history records no greater folly than our present educational system.

That statement seems a gross exaggeration, if nothing worse, for long-established things are hallowed by time and custom and faults long endured assume the status of virtues.

But what would you say if twenty million children were herded into factories and there trained for a period of years in the art of knitting, which none of them thereafter would practice except the comparative few who remained to instruct another generation?

To justify itself, education must serve one of two purposes. It must serve as a mental exercise and thus develop the capacities of the mind, or it must provide knowledge that will be of service in the years to come.

It does provide mental exercise, but crossword puzzles serve the purpose equally well. The hard life of a newsboy serves it better. And surely none will contend that our educational system justifies itself if its only service is to provide mental calisthenics.

There remains the matter of knowledge. Do our schools give young people the knowledge that will prepare them for life, that will shield them from dangers, that will arm them to battle the world and defeat it, that will enable them to live usefully, bravely and nobly? Do they provide any useful equipment at all?

Unquestionably they provide some useful knowledge. The first few grades impart elementary knowledge that is necessary and lasting.

But what of the years that follow? Do you know a single adult, not engaged in one of the professions, who now benefits in any way from the things he "learned" during those years? Ask the college graduates of your acquaintance how much of their "education" they remember.

People are afraid to face the truth. Custom is too strongly entrenched. But what is the value of education that is neither useful nor remembered?

It isn't remembered because it is learned unwillingly. Young minds eager to learn and quick to believe—demanding the explanation of countless mysteries—still refuse the knowledge that is offered because it is irrelevant and useless. You will hunt long to find a genius, not a scientist, who did not as a youth rebel against such waste of his time.

Is there a greater crime against youth than to waste its best years at the sorry business of memorizing information it can not use?

Education is necessary. No one can succeed without it. But the necessary kind isn't obtained in ordinary schools. If our ablest men are college-bred, it is because the ablest boys went to college.

We look in vain for ways to reduce taxes, yet the enormous cost of "education" could be reduced to a fourth without depriving a single child of any knowledge that is essential or beneficial.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Worried Insurgents.

Boston Transcript.

One of the submerged problems of politics, forgotten in the Democratic domination at Washington and the dazzling kaleidoscopic events, is, What will become of the Republican insurgents? Will they go over to the Democratic party, which does not want them? Will they return to the Republican party, if there is one? Will they watch and wait and then, mayhap, try to organize a third party? So far, they have been traveling along very happily with the administration, most of whose proposals fit very well into their program, although not, as a rule, going to such lengths. They are in such a minority in Congress, at the moment, that it makes little, if any, difference to the state of the Union how they vote or what they do. These erratic gentlemen have not, however, overlooked the fact that a congressional election will take place in 1934, and it is of individual interest to them whether they are sent back to Congress. Some of them are already casting anchors to windward in their own behalf; among them, it is charged by his enemies, Senator Hiram Johnson, of California. The details may not lack interest for the politicians of Massachusetts, who have just gone through a novel experience with the primary election laws.

The Tariff Specter Rises.

Minneapolis Journal.

One of the first tests of President Roosevelt's farm relief program will come in the application of the tariff to the seven staple farm products singled out for relief. The American farmer is not a high tariff man, but he does need and want tariff protection against commodities imported in competition with his own products.

The President has made it known that he will not exercise the power given to him in the new farm bill, to place higher import taxes on the major farm products, before the end of the present tariff truce, June 12. Moreover, that truce is to be extended from that date until the end of the World Economic Conference.

His decision can hardly be criticized. It would be inconsistent with the idea of the tariff truce to levy new duties just now.

Sooner or later, however, the President must decide on a permanent tariff policy relating to the major farm products. Under one of the options given to him in the farm bill, the so-called allotment plan, the Government will levy a tax on the processors of certain products, and will use the proceeds to pay premiums to the farmers who comply with the allotment regulations. This is a device to limit domestic production and raise prices.

THE ONCE OVER

LO, THE POOR FARMER!

(Farmers in Milk War.—Headline.)

The city milkman, he gets rich,
He seldom wants for dollars,
But all the farmers get is lots
Of dirt upon their collars.

The middleman he waxes well—
The bottlers well are faring;
The railroad gets a profit and
The farmer gets fresh airing.

The feed man sees his income swell,
Also the veterinary;
The farm machine man gets his price—
The farmer gets the "berry."

The milk-can maker drives a car,
He's happy, fat and wealthy;
The big milk magnate counts his gold—
The farmer? Well, he's healthy.

The man who makes the bottle caps
Gets all that is his due, sir;
The man who owns and milks the cows
He gets a lovely view, sir.

The stenog in the city plant
She never lives in attics;
The president he gets a yacht—
The farmer gets rheumatics.

The cows they get the nice, green grass,
And fame in song and story;
But as for what the farmer gets,
Well, that's an udder story.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Supports Plan of Conferring Extraordinary Powers Upon President to Meet Emergency.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln or Grover Cleveland were President, he would act in the light of conditions as they exist today. His survey of those conditions would be as follows:

1. The function of Constitution and legislative enactment is to authorize and limit action. They define the field and declare the policy. The action is for the executive.

2. The national and international problems that are urgent are to be solved by action. That action consists of working out plans to meet conditions and carrying such plans into execution. The requirements are intensive study and planning with courage and decision in execution.

3. The essential study and planning can not be made by the composite action of a large number of members of a legislative body. They can be made only by a more concentrated authority. The questions involved do not call for the application of abstract theory. They are concrete. They are affected by conditions that change from day to day. They require study by men specially qualified to deal with them and who can proceed systematically with complete grasp and understanding. They call for work of the general and his staff. The World War was won because of the leadership of Gen. Foch in conference with the generals of other nations. Such leadership and conference is needed to win the economic and social war that we now are in. Conferences are going on. Leadership will arise and be followed consciously or unconsciously. It may be in a composite of several minds. Determined harmonious resolve to achieve the good of all will lead to sound conclusion. The problems of the nation and of the world are being handled in a fashion that is heartening.

4. The Congress never before acted more patriotically, efficiently or properly than in recognizing as now, the limitations that are inherent when so many attempt to act. The concentration of power in the President and his immediate advisors exhibits a degree of understanding by the Congress that inspired confidence in its wisdom. No reflection is involved. Strength, not weakness, is being shown.

5. There is little need for worry about the Constitution. That Congress should do its utmost to concentrate power for prompt action is clear. If it oversteps it injures no one. If the Congress in acting with the promptness that is essential, in granting power, uses phrases that some think too comprehensive, it can do no harm. Whatever the language used it can have effect only within constitutional limits. The Supreme Court will take care of that.

6. The President has given ample evidence of his respect for the authority under which he must act. His guiding thought is to protect our system of Government and not to destroy it. His leadership in the exercise of concentrated power is essential and he should be supported. There is no warrant for apprehension that in his action there will not be seen emulation of the examples of his most distinguished predecessors and the following of the course which they would follow if they now were in his place.

7. Unprecedented conditions call for unprecedented action. Routes to destiny must be revised. Surveys and experiments may be needed to chart permanent location.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

SENATOR DILL, of Washington, believes the sweeping decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the Chicago-Gary stations gives the Radio Commission enough power, through the teeth it puts in the radio act, to withdraw broadcasting licenses and issue, if the commission should see fit, television licenses. That is if television should be developed to an extent where it would be considered more in the public interest to have it used than broadcasting.

"It is a wonderful decision," Senator Dill said. "It establishes the right of the commission to change station assignments at will and puts upon all stations the necessity of serving the public or getting off the air. Likewise, the decision clearly establishes the fact that Congress is supreme in its power to regulate interstate commerce as it relates to radio and can delegate such powers to the licensing authority it has created."

Senator Dill said a most important part of the decision was that it established the fact that stations possess no property rights in their channels and exist only, by sufferance of Congress, from license renewal to license renewal, so long as they serve the public interest. The senator said the Supreme Court applied the same rule to radio as to the authority of the Congress to control commerce on navigable streams. If any structures over such streams interfere with commerce, Congress has a right to have them removed without being obliged to compensate those required to take such action.

SENATOR WALLACE WHITE, Jr., of Maine, coauthor of the radio act, is another who has a smile on his face as a result of the decision, for he had a great deal to do with getting the matter into the highest court.

Following the reversal of the commission by the Court of Appeals, Senator White, from the floor of the Senate, urged a Supreme Court review of the case.

"The Court of Appeals decision," Senator White declared at that time, "if followed, would render futile the effort of Congress, through the Davis amendment, to break down the excessive concentration of stations in limited areas and to bring about an equitable distribution of radio services throughout the country."

Senator White was most anxious that the acid test be made by the Supreme Court so that Congress might know whether the Davis amendment, which was enacted for the purpose of equalizing the country's radio facilities, was to be respected or whether the congressional purpose has come to naught."

The runners-up in the national poll of radio favorites are:

Easy Aces, Edwin C. Hill, The Goldbergs, Cities Service (Jessica Dragonette), Marx Brothers, Sherlock Holmes, Vincent Lopez, Boswell Sisters, Boake Carter, Lowell Thomas, New York Philharmonic, Fannie Brice.

WILLIAM A. BRADY, Sr., and De Wolf Hopper will head the cast and Irene Franklin will sing "Red Head" on the Sunshine program over WRC at 7 p. m.

Brady will take the part of Svengall in a scene from George Du Maurier's success of the 1890s, "Trilby," and Hopper will recite his famous "Casey at the Bat." In addition, Rudy Vallee will head a group of mixed singers, including Cecile Sherman, soprano; the Giersdorf Sisters, a female trio, and the International Male Quartet in a medley of old songs of the "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden" vintage.

Louis Garden, sound expert at KFWB, Hollywood, was puzzled. He had to provide the sound of a chap being hit on the head with a lead pipe for a script show.

He tried a number of contraptions, but they failed. However, he was at the mike with a wooden mallet and when he got the cue he simply used it on his own head.

Okay for sound, but Garden was "out."

"Poetry and Music," which is proving a popular local feature, will again be heard over WMAL tonight at 9:30 o'clock.

The Silver String Revelers will hold the boards at WJSV at 6:20 p. m.

William Phillips, Undersecretary of State, will deliver the principal address during the World Goodwill Day program, which will be broadcast over WRC at 1:30 p. m. Music will be by the Inter-High School Male Chorus of Washington, directed by Edwin N. C. Barnes.

Mlle. Marie-Therese de Laboulaye, daughter of the French Ambassador, and Rogelio Alfaro, son of the Minister from Panama, will be among the representatives of the younger generation to be heard.

ROBERT UNDERWOOD JOHNSON will read selections from his own poetic works, including his poem dedicated to President Roosevelt, over WJSV at 1:45 p. m.

Gladys Swarthout, youngest mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will turn to radio for a special series of summer concerts heard Thursday at 9 p. m. over the WEAF network.

The Lovette Choral Club, directed by Eva Whitford, will be heard over WJSV this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in connection with the Baptist convention being held in Washington at the same time. The club boasts 35 voices.

Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese finance minister, will be heard over WJSV at 10:15 p. m., following his conferences with President Roosevelt.

"TAURUS."

IF May 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:20 a. m. to 7.45 a. m., from 11 a. m. to 12.25 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:25 a. m. to 10:45 a. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:10 p. m.

Influences operating on this day will probably be of a variable nature. They will not favor hurried or sudden business transactions; transactions involving the signing of papers should be satisfactorily consummated. Affairs of the heart will probably remain at a standstill.

The child born on this May 18 will probably have a predominantly somber disposition; laughter will not be spontaneous with him. He will never seem quite to adjust himself to his surroundings; he will not reflect an attitude of permanency.

If May 18 is the date of your birth, you are probably one of that group of people who thoroughly enjoy their amusements and diversions, but in a quiet way. You enjoy your friends, and you have many of them, but you do not like large social gatherings. Music proves very restful to you and at times inspiring. You are one whose life is largely devoted to your family.

Born on May 18, it is impossible to visualize you in any particular line of work. You are one who is not afraid to assume responsibility and almost certain it is that you will eventually find yourself in a position of authority and trust.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

Among those not present at the Opera ball was Gatti-Casazza, director of the Metropolitan. No one explained his absence.

Billy Selwyn, young son of Arch Selwyn, is following in his father's footsteps. After serving a year as stage manager, he is now directing a new play. That is, when he isn't piloting his powerful speedboat off the Connecticut shore.

The new style evening dress for men this season will be black trousers, red Eton jacket worn with a Kummerband sash. Perhaps I can go the red jacket, but, as for the sash, I'll stick to my green galluses with the picture of Theda Bara on the buckles.

That party at the opening of "Hilda Cassidy" looked like a musical Who's Who, as it included Mrs. Irving Berlin, Wanda Toscanini, Ira and George Gershwin and Jascha Heifetz.

Looking Ahead.

The late Joseph LeBlang was astounding in the uncanny way in which he always kept four or five years ahead of his time. He was the first to sell cut-rate theater tickets, and he was the first to say that the only way the stage could be saved was to cut the price of admissions.

But what this started out to record is that once I came on him at his summer home avidly working on a jig-saw puzzle.

"You know," he prophesied as he went on trying to fit in a section, "in a few years these things are going to take the country by storm. If you want to make yourself some money, put it in a jig-saw puzzle plant now."

Well, that was four years ago and you can see where the things are now.

Disappointed Michael.

Michael Arlen's real name is Dikran Kouyoundjian. He is now basking on the Riviera, but it's just about time for him to pay his annual visit to New York.

There is a chance he may not come over this year. The last time he was here he was bitterly disappointed with the changes in what was once his favorite city, "New York women," he commented, "are looking too worried, and it is having a devastating effect on their incomparable beauty."

FIRST LADY VISITOR AT STRATFORD HALL

Mrs. Roosevelt Enthusiastic Over Progress Made in Restoration.

Stratford, Va., May 17 (A.P.).—Picnic tables spread under centuries-old beech trees greeted Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her party today when she visited Stratford Hall, the birthplace of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Restoration of the hall and the famous plantation surrounding it led to the desire of the President's wife to see the work. The hall has been an enthusiasm of President and Mrs. Roosevelt since they found it years ago.

Mrs. Roosevelt was accompanied on her trip by wives of more than two score senators and members of the Lee Foundation, which is directing the work of making the hall a national shrine similar to Mount Vernon, Washington's home.

On her arrival she immediately wanted to see the famous "great hall" of Stratford, which, no doubt, has entertained no such famous guests since the days when the Lees gave balls there.

"See this gorgeous walnut panelling," Mrs. Roosevelt exclaimed to the party as they entered the hall.

She made other enthusiastic comments, also, to Mrs. Charles Lanier, of Greenwich, Conn., president of the Lee Foundation.

But luncheon was ready, and the visitors settled about tables to enjoy Southern-fried chicken and ham sandwiches and pickled peaches, coffee and cake.

Mrs. John Garner, wife of the Vice President, stopped at Mrs. Roosevelt's table to pat "Meggie," the White House Scottie.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, widow of the Vice President under Woodrow Wilson, also attended. A very modern note was lent the party when Miss Georgina Yeatman, of Philadelphia, flew her plane in and settled on a nearby clover field.

The occasion was chosen by the women of the Mount Vernon Association to present to those directing the Lee Foundation a watch which President Washington gave to a relative, who in turn gave the watch to Gen. Lee.

Expulsion Asked Of Communists

Cincinnati, May 17 (A.P.).—Resolutions calling for exclusion and expulsion of all alien Communists, and for continued nonrecognition of Soviet Russia until it "abandons propaganda" were adopted at the closing session today of the annual convention of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

No mention was made in the resolutions, however, to Prof. Albert Einstein, noted mathematician, who yesterday was called "one of the leading Communists in Europe," by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, retired former head of the chemical warfare section of the United States Army.

Arthur Milton McCrillis, of Providence, R. I., was elected president general succeeding F. W. Millspaugh, of Nashville, Tenn. F. B. Steele, of Washington, was reelected secretary general and made registrar general also, while G. F. Robertson, of Baltimore, was reelected treasurer general.

2 Tia Juana Bars Destroyed by Fire

Tia Juana, Mexico, May 17 (A.P.).—Fire, preceded by an explosion, destroyed two of Tia Juana's most famous bars and damaged another today. Police said the loss would approximate $100,000.

Harry Wilkins, an American, identified by Mexican police as the owner of the Tunnel Bar, was taken into custody for investigation. Detectives said they found oil-soaked rags and six 5-gallon cans which had contained gasoline under the floor of the bar in which the fire started.

The Log Cabin Bar also was destroyed, while the Tivoli Bar, an adjoining structure, was partially burned. Police said the burned buildings were heavily insured. The fire still further reduced the number of bars remaining open in this once prosperous border oasis. A score of the 50 saloons in the city closed when beer began flowing on the American side of the border.

Langley Field Has New Army Airship

The new Army airship, TC-13, piloted by Maj. William E. Kepner, Air Corps, yesterday completed a flight from Akron, Ohio, where she was built, to Langley Field, Va., which will be her base.

During the entire flight the ship communicated with the Air Corps Radio Station here at Bolling Field. The ship is more than 200 feet long and has a displacement of approximately 11 tons, of which 4½ tons are available for the useful load in the form of crew, equipment, fuel and armament. It is expected that the TC-13 will be flown here in the near future, so that officers and officials on duty in the War Department may inspect her.

NEW YORK REPEAL IS URGED BY FARLEY

Democratic Chief Reminds State Pledge of Party Must Be Kept.

New York, N. Y., May 17 (A.P.).—Democratic county committeemen of New York State were urged tonight in a telegram from James A. Farley, Postmaster General and New York State chairman, to "get out every vote possible" for election of delegates pledged for repeal of the eighteenth amendment in next Tuesday's election.

Mr. Farley, who directed President Roosevelt's campaign as national chairman last November, reminded the county committeemen that repeal was a platform pledge of the party.

"It is imperative," said Mr. Farley's telegram, "that the largest possible vote be secured next Tuesday for the delegates in favor of repeal. I urge you to immediately have town and ward leaders call together their committeemen and make full arrangements for getting out every vote possible.

"Repeal of the eighteenth amendment is a platform pledge of the Democratic party and we in New York State want to show the Nation how strong is the sentiment in favor of immediate repeal."

Newark, N. J., May 17 (A.P.).—New Jersey, last of the 48 States which ratified the eighteenth amendment, took her place in line today as the fifth State whose electorate disapproves of national prohibition.

Unofficial returns from the twenty-one counties of the State indicate a complete wet victory. All of the 226 delegates to the repeal convention, which will probably be held early in June, will be pledged for repeal, since the returns give no places to anti-repeal candidates.

In signifying its desire for repeal the State will be following the lead of Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island and Wyoming.

Onan Says Recent Years Aided Youth

The past few years have been a godsend to the youth of America, Dave W. Onan, of Minneapolis, Minn., international president of the Optimists Club, declared yesterday in an address before the Washington club.

"They have learned to get more out of a dollar than their parents ever did," he said, "and have also acquired a finer slant on the adjustment of their lives to meet conditions."

Mr. Onan, who is on a Nation-wide trip visiting the various clubs in interest of the convention here June 24, said that there was a definite trend toward business recovery, but all cities were fearful to publicize the fact lest it bring a mass of the "floating unemployed."

'Humanics' Needed, Kiwanis Clubs Told

More "humanics and less mechanics" in everyday living, were urged by Carl E. Endicott, president of Kiwanis International, at an intercity meeting yesterday of Washington and Towson (Md.) Kiwanis Clubs at Towson.

Introduced by Edwin F. Hill, governor of the Capital district, Mr. Endicott declared that "life would be a different proposition if people would be more human and life less mechanical."

Besides Mr. Hill, George H. Winslow, secretary of the intercity relations committee, and William M. Freeman represented the Washington Club. Harry E. Karr, past president of Kiwanis International, also spoke. Kiwanians from several nearby Maryland cities attended the meeting.

At 2:15 p. m. today, Mr. Endicott will lay a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington in behalf of Kiwanis clubs throughout the country and Canada.

Dr. McGlothlin Reported Better

Greenville, S. C., May 17 (A.P.).—Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, president of Furman University, remained in a Gastonia hospital tonight and will not be able to attend funeral services for his wife, killed in the automobile collision near Kings Mountain, N. C., Tuesday in which he suffered broken ribs and other injuries.

Mrs. McGlothlin will be buried here tomorrow after services at the home on the university campus.

Dr. McGlothlin was reported improving. The McGlothlin party was headed for the Southern Baptist convention at Washington.

The coroner ordered the body removed to the District morgue, but announced that he would withhold the issuance of a certificate of suicide pending further investigation.

The Meanderer

Deserts Fickle Clothes Emporiums to Look Upon Changeless Beauty of Fine Books.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Fripperies of fashion faded in their importance to the Meanderer yesterday while a young bookstore manager stroked the fine leather-backed books among his wares and said that the life of a good leather bindings is at least a 100 years! No tour in search of things to wear ever was more compelling (no, let's say absorbing, for many of us are compelled to shop) than this adventure into the book-shopping place, which has "booksellers to the world" under its trade name.

These glories bound in blue, red, brown, green and black with gold toolings and stamplings, add to the mental horizon, while their highly decorative effects embellish their owners' shelves. With their enduring value for generations to come, they cost much, much less than they have been costing for a number of years. Roughly, fine book bindings—needless to say fine books, for the book must be worthy of its cover in almost every instance—sells now for about 30 per cent less than their price has been for many years. That means not only that the books in their rich bindings so worthy of admiration cost the buyer 30 per cent less than formerly, but that bindings especially ordered for the book lover's cherished volumes will not be so nearly prohibitive in cost as they have always seemed to those who must guard their spending.

And covers for these aristocrats of books have gone cellophane! Just as truly as bread has been cellophane-packaged, are these book bindings protected with that ubiquitous protective material. The purpose of the cellophane is served as well for leather as for bread, because leather deteriorates as it dries. No beauty of the books is dimmed by the cellophane, so more power to its use!

Even as there is a cellophane cover for the valuable books, so is there a "shine" for them—almost like a "shine" for shoe leather. The tin can of "shine" material for leather books is an oily substance to prevent the leather drying out, and to prevent "scuffing." New leather bindings really are improved by the "shine," as the treatment will gradually tone new colors into mellowness.

The college bookworm who may be on your list for a graduation gift, if he is a graduate on whom you would bestow a valuable, lifelong gift, should give glowing thanks for a collegiate dictionary done in full limp pigskin for $7.50; or in a full calf binding for $20; or for a set of beautiful leather volumes in a matching leather book rack—including material for eight volumes bound in five, embracing an atlas of the world, a French-English dictionary, an English dictionary, a dictionary of English literature, a classical dictionary, and dictionary of dates, poetry and prose quotations and of proverbs and maxims.

Disciples of Edna St. Vincent Millay should see the exquisite bindings on her verse in this F street book store, and Edwin Arlington Robinson's admirers should examine his nicely leather bound "Collected Poems." And the bookshop manager would have you look at "The Sea and the Jungle," by H. M. Tomlinson, in its handsome leather covers. For the precious budding book lover there is the work of A. A. Milne, done in decoratively stamped, durable and colorful coverings of leather.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

PENALTY DOUBLES.

HUMAN greed is one of the strongest motivating forces in the world. It operates at the Contract table as elsewhere, and helps to make the game what it is. In the search of a partnership for the best bid in the combined hands, the object is not so much a pure scientific search for absolute truth or right as a desire to profit by securing the greatest number of points, whether those points are the result of bidding and making one's own contract or a penalty inflicted upon a rash opponent.

There are many players at the Bridge table who double for penalties too infrequently. There are others who double too often. It is well, from time to time, to review the principles underlying the Penalty Double and to remember how to determine what one's partner means by his Penalty Double. The following rules are laid down which permit the easy distinguishing of Penalty Doubles from Takeout Doubles:

A Double is for penalties:

1. When partner has bid, even if the doubled contract is only one-odd.

2. When partner has not bid, if the Double is not made at the first opportunity.

3. When the doubled bid is two or more notrump or four or more in a suit.

4. When the Opening bid is one notrump (not a suit) and a Double is made of an adverse Overcall on the next round.

5. When a player opens with a bid of two in a suit or two notrump and doubles an adverse Overcall on the next round.

There is an exception to Rule 2 given above, which takes care of situations when opponents have a part-score. For instance, suppose North and South have a part-score of 60 and the bidding goes:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	2♡	Pass
Pass

and West now doubles. The inference is strong that he has support for any bid his partner may make and is not expecting to penalize opponents, but feels that their effort to capitalize their part-score and make game with its help may be prevented at slight loss.

The successful use of the Penalty Double, of course, depends upon that most valuable of all Bridge qualities—partnership adaptation. The confirmed optimist and the confirmed pessimist, when it comes to the question of defeating an adverse contract, are both bad partners. The best partner is one who retains a keen judgment of the values held, the playing skill of his opponents and partner as well as himself, and the knowledge that unless a defeat is certain, a Penalty Double which anticipates the defeat of an adverse contract by a single trick is distinctly bad practice. This is especially true when the doubled contract is a suit, and the Doubler is relying on doubtful tricks in the trump suit to bring about the defeat of the contract.

Penalty Doubles should not be made unless the anticipated penalty to be exacted from the opponents is roughly equivalent to that which can be made at one's own or partner's bid. It is unwise, for instance, to forego a first game, which could be bid and made, in order to inflict a penalty of 250 points upon nonvulnerable opponents. It is unwise, when vulnerable, to accept even 450 points as a reward for defeating opponents' contract in preference to scoring game at your own bid, with its 700-point bonus for rubber. Generally speaking, a player should accept a penalty of 3 tricks in lieu of the first game, which is not worth quite as much, although the balance is very slight. The factor which should turn the scale is that the 3-trick penalty is ample compensation for the game which your opponents have deprived you of the opportunity of making and that a sure penalty of 3 tricks may quite easily, in the play, develop into a set of 4 or even 5 tricks. When opponents have overbid to such an extent, the question of going on with your own contract or accepting in lieu thereof the larger penalty is not even debatable.

Examples of sound Penalty Doubles are:

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♡	1♠

You, as North, double, holding:

♠ K 10 8 6 3 2
◇ A 10 5 3
♣ Q 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	1NT	Pass
Pass

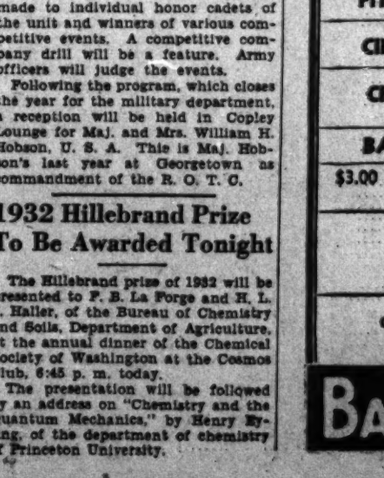
You, as West, double, holding:

♠ 10 5
♡ A Q 10 7
◇ K Q J 10 8 5
♣ A

TOMORROW'S HAND.

As South is playing a contract of seven spades, how does he fulfill it?

South Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomororw's article.

Stocks Continue Advances As Europe's Fears Vanish

Cheerful Trading Pushes Sales Turnover to 4,803,900 Shares.

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—Security markets were cheerfully disposed today and prices again advanced.

Obstacles that had loomed ahead either proved less formidable than expected or evaporated completely, while another batch of favorable trade statistics and dividend news added their weight to the upward movement which has now been in progress a month.

Chancellor Hitler's speech to the Reichstag, awaited with eagerness, if not anxiety, appeared to have a more soothing effect than had been anticipated in some quarters. Its indorsement of President Roosevelt's peace message was especially noted by those who are hoping for ultimate success of the Geneva conference and for constructive results at the London meeting. Marketwise, the address was accompanied by a rally in German bonds and a rise in foreign exchanges, the latter having begun the day with a sharp sag against dollars.

The stock trend was upward virtually all day, though late profit-taking ate into the many extreme gains of 1 to more than 5 points. Steel shares were fairly vigorous, while rails made occasional sallies. The rail average closing price, according to the Standard Statistics-Associate Press composite, represented a new high for the year.

Shorts in American Telephone spent an uncomfortable day. Apparently they reduced their commitments to a sizeable extent both before and after declaration of the usual $2.25 quarterly dividend, for the stock shot up to 112⅞ for a rise of 5⅝, finishing 2 points under the top. Directors made no comment in connection with the dividend decision, though they probably felt the payment, partially covered by actual earnings, was justified in view of the general improvement in business conditions.

United States Steel rallied above 50 again, holding a fractional part of its gain. Allied Chemical, joining the "100 Club," almost reached 102, and was up more than 3 net. United States Steel preferred, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, American Can, Woolworth, American Tobacco "B," Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, National Distillers, Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, Goodyear, Ingersoll Rand, Lambert, McKeesport, Ludlum Steel and Bethlehem closed from major fractions to more than a point higher. Sales totaled 4,803,900 shares.

The market's ability to rally against early strength of dollar exchange again suggested that more attention was paid to business gains than to inflation prospects.

Although the Iron Age said the upward swing of the industry it reviews weekly "lost some of its force," production was placed at 35 per cent of capacity against 31 per cent a week ago. There is, of course, doubt as to how far the rise can carry without help from railroad and stuctural buying, neither of which is contributing much to current business. However, the Government's projected public works program may well provide a flip when it gets under way. Electric power output last week topped a year ago by 2.2 per cent, while freight loadings of New York Central and Pennsylvania also forged above 1932 figures.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—The stock exchange maintained a cheerful tendency today with a general improvement in prices coming largely as a result of President Roosevelt's message. Gilt-edged securities, industrials and gold mining shares recorded several good advances while German bonds recovered part of an early setback. Transatlantic issues were more active and higher in sympathy with Wall street, while oil shares recovered a portion of yesterday's decline owing to the reduction in the price of petroleum.

Paris—Although trading was still hesitant pending Chancellor Hitler's speech, prices advanced further following the firmness in Wall street and the maintaining of optimism which was helped by President Roosevelt's note. The closing was well inclined.

Berlin—The tone of the boerse was steady and prices closed firm.

BONDS IN NEW HIGHS ON WORLD OUTLOOK

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—The bond market moved into new high territory for the year today as international political uneasiness calmed under Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech and business and industrial news continued to make pleasant reading.

Trading activity expanded considerably on the upturn, sales totaling $15,019,000, par value, against $11,805,000 yesterday. The average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced one-half a point, to 73.1.

Secondary domestic issues and German obligations showed the best gains of the day, although the highest grade maturities were fairly steady. United States Government securities were generally inactive and moderately lower. Railway bonds led the forward push.

Sugar Production Expected To Be Under Consumption

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—The world's "sweet tooth" will have less to bite into this year than during the years past.

Estimates obtained in a world survey by Lamborn & Co., Inc., indicate that sugar production during the crop year ending next August 31, will approximate 24,735,000 long tons as compared with 26,431,000 tons manufactured the previous year. This is a reduction of 1,696,000 tons, or 6.4 per cent.

World consumption during 1932-33 will approximate 26,584,000 tons, it is estimated. Consumption will exceed production by 1,840,000 tons.

CURB PRICES HIGHER IN HEAVIER TRADING

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—The curb exchange staged a moderate advance today, accompanied by increased trading activity. Considerable churning occurred at higher levels. Prices surged forward in the early afternoon for advances of fractions to more than 2 points, but late profit taking shaded gains.

Utilities were firm in the early morning. Oils were again inclined to be somewhat irregular.

Among commodity shares improving major fractions were National Sugar, Swift International and National Leather. Transfers today totaled 612,000 shares against 415,000 yesterday.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Cast iron pipe—It is reported that some makers are quoting $33 a ton or $1 a ton above the recent schedule. The trade expects a general upward revision in prices.

Canned goods—Prices of leading brands of spinach have been advanced slightly for the second time within a few weeks. Prices of other main items are firm.

Flour—New business continues restricted by resales at considerably lower than market prices, according to trade interests.

Gasoline—The tank car market is quotably unchanged but with a slightly easier undertone. Below 65 octane is available at 4½ cents a gallon in tank cars at the refineries; above 65 octane is maintained at 4⅝@5 cents.

WHEAT VALUES SOA TO PEAK SINCE 193

No. 2 Red Sells at 82 Cents for Immediate Delivery; Other Grains Up.

Chicago, May 17 (A.P.).—Wheat distinguished itself today by rising to a top price unequaled since June, 1931. The new high record, 82 cents a bushel, was paid for No. 2 red wheat, immediate delivery. This amounted to 10 cents over May, the best premium of the present season, 2 cents advance from latest previous sales, and indicated that consumer requirements were outpacing speculative demand.

Future deliveries of wheat and other grains all displayed strength, however, responsive to upturns of securities and because of new delays to corn planting.

Wheat futures closed firm, ½ to 1¼ above yesterday's finish; corn, ⅜ to ¾ up; oats, unchanged, ¼ to ¼ higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

Rains Claim Attention.

Aside from the new high-price record achieved by immediate delivery wheat, grain traders gave most attention to unwelcome rains menacing afresh the 1933 corn crop. An official report from Washington which attracted particular notice said the corn-planting situation in the central Mississippi Valley and the Ohio Valley had become critical because of continued wetness making field work impossible. Illinois points especially reported that heavy rains last night made it certain the 1933 corn crop would be so late as to be subject to weather extremes of heat and possible frost.

Eastern buying was a feature of the late trade in wheat. Word was received of adverse conditions for spring wheat seeding in Canada and Winnipeg messages intimating that a decided reduction of acreage was probable. Mainly, though, wheat pit observers here attributed enlarged commission purchase orders to the last to upturns of securities and to strength of corn.

Rye outdid wheat and scored an extreme gain of 2⅜ cents. Offerings of rye were scarce and Northwestern interests were active buyers.

Some reports said corn planting was later this season than at any time in 30 years. Oats followed corn. Provisions rose with hog values. Lard for September reached $7, the highest price since 1931.

COTTON PRICES RISE ON TRADE'S BUYING

July Closes at 8.72 With General Market Up 8 to 10 Points.

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—After advancing about 25 points on buying promoted by a more favorable view of the European political situation and strength in the stock market, cotton lost part of the gain in the late trading.

July contracts, which had sold up to 8.86 on the earlier demand, closed at 8.72, or 14 points off from the best, with the general market closing easy at net advances of 8 to 10 points.

The opening was unchanged to 2 points higher in the face of rather disappointing Liverpool cables and some selling here through houses with Liverpool connections. There were some overnight buying orders in the market, including rather an active trade demand, and prices turned steadier.

October sold up to 9.11 and December to 9.25 around midday, making net advances of about 20 to 26 points, but these prices attracted further realizing and more Southern selling.

The disposition to take profits in the late trading was increased by an easier turn in the stock market. Closing quotations showed reactions of 8 to 16 points from the high prices of the day.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was more active today with prices firmer on increased covering and commission house buying, promoted by the firmness in hogs, lard, cotton and grains.

CHEVY CHASE CLUB'S HEAD MRS. HOADLEY

Editor of Federation Paper Honored for Efforts in Behalf of Women.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

Mrs. Frank M. Hoadley, editor of the Maryland Club Woman, official organ of the Maryland State Federation of Women's Clubs, yesterday was elected president of the Woman's Club of Chevy Chase at its annual meeting. In turning over the gavel to Mrs. Hoadley, the retiring president, Mrs. Karl Fenning, lauded Mrs. Hoadley's efforts in behalf of the club and clubwomen in general.

Other officers elected were Mrs. James Bennett, first vice president; Mrs. Dwight Curtiss, second vice president; Mrs. Roger J. Whiteford, treasurer; Mrs. Frederick Kerby, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Fred O. Coe, recording secretary; Mrs. Eugene Mueller, corresponding secretary.

The retiring president, Mrs. Fenning, reported that the club had gained 43 new members in the past year and now has 548. Mrs. Whiteford reported that the club has donated $950 to philanthropy in the last year, of which $700 was given to the Social Service League of Montgomery County and $100 to the Washington Community Chest. Mrs. Whiteford reported that $500 had been expended in educational projects and that the building fund now totals $3,233.72.

Scholarships were awarded to Miss Margaret S. McCall, 209 Taylor street, Chevy Chase, $250 for freshman work at college, and $100 to Miss Leora Sanford, 6707 Fifty-sixth street, Chevy Chase, for sophomore work at the University of Maryland.

The club declined to support the resolution of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which indorses giving the President power of embargo on arms to warring nations and nations about to go to war. Resolutions of the Maryland State Federation which ask appointment of a woman member of the board of regents of the University of Maryland and that February 22 be made a holiday in the State and patriotic exercises be held the day prior in the schools were approved.

Child Guidance Expert Is Speaker at Bethesda

Mrs. E. Hilton Jackson, chairman of the subcommittee, presided.

M'CORD ERROR BARB IS QUICKLY DISPUTED

erations, in a statement approved by Secretary Swanson. He said this conclusion was based "almost entirely, if not solely, on the light of subsequent events," and added:

"The Akron was ably built and unquestionably ably handled to the full limit of present knowledge and experience in rigid airship operation.

"No reflection, therefore, should attach to her commanding officer for his choice, in his best judgment, of the course of action that was followed under those particular storm conditions during the natural and normal military operations of a rigid airship."

Meanwhile, with the Navy in disagreement, Congress formulated plans for an investigation of its own to start next Monday to fix responsibility for the disaster and to obtain information to guide the Naton's future air policy.

A joint congressional committee named to conduct the inquiry selected Henry Breckenridge, of New York, a former Assistant Secretary of War, to serve as its counsel. Arrangements were made to hear approximately half a hundred witnesses.

In indorsing the Akorn report Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, said "There is need to recognize the fact that it is essential in their present state of design, construction and operation, that airships should avoid bad weather (storm) areas."

He added that "there is need to increase the capacity of operating personnel to obtain, recognize and interpret bad weather conditions and the consequent proper placing of such ships relative to bad weather areas, not only from weather data supplied to the ship, but from first-hand observations on board the ship herself."

King, the successor to Rear Admiral William A. Moffett who went down with the Akron, promised definite recommendations soon. The Macon, launched in March, is the only airship the United States has in commission.

Approving the report in general, Swanson agreed with the court that "no further proceedings be had." And that the victims died "in line of duty" and not as the result of their "own misconduct."

The report said at the time of the take-off the Akron was "in excellent structural condition and generaly embodied all the best features in design and construction known to the art at that time."

The report was signed by Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, Capt. Harry E. Shoemaker and Commander Sydney M. Kraus.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

It all looks suspiciously as if the boys had something up their sleeves they are anxious to drive through the Senate. I mean booking all these Texans on the local stages this coming week. Or, of course, it might be only that the boys are building against the day when Vice President Garner may send them a mess of soft-shelled pecans off his Texas ranch, or something—maybe Thanksgiving or Christmas. At any rate, as I say, it looks suspicious.

Particularly since one of the talented Texans happens to be the Vice President's niece!

But you can't blame it on Nancy Adeline Garner, headlining next week's stage bill at the Earle. According to Miss Garner, it is distinctly a handicap to be closely related to a national celebrity.

"I gave just 15 auditions before N. B. C. accepted me for the radio," says Miss Garner. "And then I had to work a little harder than anybody else. You've got to be good, and a little better than good, if people know you are related to a celebrity—especially one with some political power. Otherwise, everyone says, 'Well, it's easy to see why SHE got ahead!'"

Miss Nancy, who is vivacious, black-bobbed, dark-eyed young woman from Corsicana, Tex., by the way, stumped for both Vice President John Nance Garner and Gov. Ferguson of her native State. She has been on the radio for more than a year and also has had considerable experience on the operatic and musical comedy stages.

Her musical education was obtained for the greater part in Chicago, where she won two scholarships for the Chicago Musical College. Her engagement at the Earle, beginning tomorrow, marks her first professional appearance in the National Capital.

Concerning the other gifted native of the Panhandle who will contribute to Washington's entertainment, come tomorrow, one is informed that a tall, skinny, aristocratic looking kid from Texas never lost sight of his desire to have an orchestra of his own, the while he kept strumming—plunking, I think, is the better word—away on his banjo as the years rolled by.

As a reward for his perseverance, this young fellow is now billed all over New York, at dinner dances, on records and on the radio as Smith Ballew and His Orchestra.

Smith Ballew, like so many other Texas lads, grew up in small towns. He did just about what the other boys did, except that he had, perhaps, a little better time than most of them and was a bit lazier and more carefree. Eventually, after the Ballew boys had finished Austin College, in Sherman, they moved on up to the University of Texas.

After leaving school, Smith took over a job of leading an orchestra out of Chicago. All these youngsters from the plains country seem sooner or later to hit Chicago. His band work took him through the Eastern States, in course of time, and once landed in New York he declined ever again to return to Chicago.

He played the banjo a while in the original company of "Good News" and also sang in the famous trio of that company. He jumped from this to a job with the Meyer Davis orchestra—you've heard of Meyer Davis?—that was then playing at the Astor Hotel.

Here his fine voice was uncovered to the New York public and it wasn't long, what with the broadcasting and recording companies hot on his trail, and all, until he had compiled the reputation of being solo proprietor and manager of the best recording voice of any crooner in Manhattan, not excepting—but why bring that up?

All right, beginning tomorrow, there he is at Loew's Fox—go see for yourself.

But I still think Guy Wonders, booker of the Earle's stage attraction, and City Manager Carter Barron, of Loew's, Inc., have an eye—or at least a hope—on a bag of "Cactus Jack's" famous pecans

And listen, you two nuts, if you get 'em, remember I'm your partner!

Although "The Working Man," starring George Arliss, is being presented at the Metropolitan precisely as it was screened at the Earle, without deletion or curtailment of any kind, the surrounding bill is entirely different. The current short subjects being shown with this exceptionally entertaining feature include "Rambling 'Round Radio Row," a diverting revuelet featuring Harry Rose, the Three Keys, Uncle Don and Buddy Rogers; Lowell Thomas describing the "Inklings," a photographic novelty of famous people, and a new issue of the Paramount Sound News.

It makes a swell bill.

It still strikes me as one of the theater's peculiar ironies that a great number of theatergoers who for months have been anxious to see Rose Franken's fine play of "Another Language" will avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by the National Theater Players, who will present this sterling domestic drama for the week beginning Monday night, when the primary reason they didn't see it when it opened at the Belasco a year ago—before going into New York to score one of the season's hits—was because the National Theater Players opened their eighth season the same week and they went to see them instead!

"Another Language," produced by Arthur J. Beckhard on a shoestring, is a hit on both sides of the Atlantic and has made its producer and its author each a comfortable fortune. Incidentally, it affords splendid roles for a majority of the National Players, who just now, histrionically and in the matter of public favor, are going great guns.

Having scored a bullseye, as usual, with Ann Corio this week, Manager Jimmy Lake, of the Gayety, seeks to repeat next week—beginning with Sunday's matinee—with "Peaches" Browning as his special added attraction. She has a way with her, at that.

The complete roster of incoming cinema attractions, opening Friday, Saturday and Monday, according to what and where, will be to all intents and purposes as follows: Loew's Fox, Mary Pickford and Leslie Howard in "Secrets," and Smith Ballew and His Orchestra headlining the vaudeville; Earle, Edward G. Robinson in "The Little Giant," and Nancy Adeline Garner headlining the vaudeville; Rialto, Paul Whiteman and His Band, John Boles and star cast in "The King of Jazz," opens Saturday; RKO-Keith's; Irene Dunne and Laura Hope Crewe, in "The Silver Cord," and Gene Dennis, psychic, added stage attraction; Palace, Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston and Madge Evans in "Hell Below;" Columbia, Charles Ruggles and Shirley Grey in "Terror Abroad," opens Monday; Metropolitan, George Arliss in "The Working Man."

Just to prove that she didn't, Manager Stephen E. Ellbacher, of the Tivoli, Fourteenth street and Park road, is bringing Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong" back for a return engagement of one day only, tomorrow, May 19. Apparently, she even did him some good!

Funny it should have taken the public so long to have given Horace Greeley a tumble and "gone West!"

To have one's neighbor climb a tree for a grandstand seat to one's private pig-killing may be aggravating, but it does not constitute grounds for assault and battery, according to Judge J. Chew Sheriff, of the Hyattsville Police Court.

After so reminding Isadoro Domingo, of Riverdale, Md., charged with attack on his neighbor, Juan Granadas, Judge Sheriff fined Domingo $10 and costs. The assault occurred May 13 in the vicinity of the two men's homes near Riverdale.

ARLINGTON RALLIES AID IN RATE BATTLE

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Receiving support from citizens of Falls Church and Fairfax County in its fight for lower electric light rates, the public utilities committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation yesterday called upon electric users to turn all of their efforts toward having the Potomac Electric Light & Power Co. extend its service throughout the county, leaving the question of public ownership for future consideration if the efforts of the committee and the Arlington County Public Utilities Commission to obtain the service of the Washington concern should fail.

"What we desire now," the committee says, "is not a continuation of our present rates even under a different kind of management, but a substantial reduction in these rates.

"Unless the advocates of public ownership of our electric lighting system can guarantee a reduction in rates equivalent to the reduction to be obtained by the proposed extension of the Braddock Light & Power Co., the Arlington County subidiary of the Potomac Electric Power Co. system, it would not appear reasonable to assume that the people of this county would be interested in such a project."

The question will be thoroughly discussed at a mass meeting to be sponsored by the Jefferson Civic League tonight in the community hall at Virginia Highlands.

Chairman Edmund D. Campbell, of the Arlington County Public Utilities Commission, and L. C. McNemar, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation, will speak.

Three Held on Charges Of Breaking Into House

James Jackson, 25, and Luther Moss, 20, both of Richmond, Va., and James Mulligan, of Boston, Mass., were arrested yesterday by the police of Fairfax County, Va., on charges of housebreaking. The trio were alleged to have broken into the home of A. C. Paggett at Springfield, Va., Tuesday evening. They were arrested by Capt. Haywood J. Durrer, of the county police.

The men were given a hearing before Judge Paul E. Brown, of the county trial justice court, who ordered them held for the action of the grand jury in the county circuit court.

CROWDER HURLS NATS TO 3-2 VICTORY OVER TRIBE

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE American League's vital statistics reveal that the Nats are up there flirting with the league lead after approximately one-fifth of the season has been written into the standing of the clubs, and it may not be amiss at this time to look over the field with a view to sizing up the opposition.

It seems to this department that the Yankees are still the club to beat. They were edged out of the league for a few days by the Indians, but the fact remains that the Yanks are still ruling the roost. But the Yanks of 1933 are not the Yanks of 1932 who won the pennant by fourteen games. The pitching that won the Yanks the pennant last year is carrying a heavier burden and the events that have already transpired indicate that the Yankee pitching is not what it used to be.

Lefty Gomez is not the invincible of 1932. Johnny Allen thus far has been of no service to the club with his sore arm. Red Ruffing has been getting his bumps. Don Brennan and Russell Van Atta have broken in with marked success, but they are still untried over a season. And a Yankee pitching staff that does not shape up as strong as last year's has, in addition, released George Pipgras to the Red Sox.

Pitching Won for Yanks Last Year.

The records show that it was pitching, not slugging, that carried the Yanks to victory in 1932. And the Yankees' offensive is not calculated to be any stronger. Lazzeri and Combs carried the team through the early weeks of last season, but they are not hitting at the same good gait. Ruth's presence at the plate is offset by his slowness in the field. Gehrig is still hanging around with his handy homers, but the Yanks still need pitching, unlike their triumphant years of 1921, '22, '23, '26, '27 and '28. No longer can they smother the opposition with their bats.

There are only two other clubs in the league who figure to challenge the Nats seriously. The Athletics and the Indians have displayed a right to consideration when the pennant honors are being handed around. At this writing, the Indians seem more formidable with their pitching staff of Ferrell, Hildebrand, Hudlin, Harder and Clint Brown, and the slugging presence of such as Averill, Porter, Cissell, Vosmik, Kamm and Burnett.

Rival Teams Respect Mackmen.

But Joe Cronin and every other pilot in the league holds an honest

Nee's 67 Tops Chevy Chase Qualifiers

Record Voigt Set in 1926 Shattered by Brilliant Play.

Harry Pitt, Partner on Round, Second on List With 73.

By DAVE HERMAN.

THE Gods on Mount Olympus beckoned to Maury Nee, steel-nerved Georgetown Prep athlete, yesterday afternoon and the 17-year-old youngster answered with a blistering round of 67 that smashed par by two strokes, established a new all-time amateur competitive course record at Chevy Chase, and skyrocketed him to top honors in the 18-hole qualifying round of the twenty-third annual Chevy Chase invitation golf classic.

Nee's brilliantly played round was the greatest exhibition of shot-making and courage Chevy Chase has ever witnessed, and his incredibly brilliant score eclipsed the mark made by that peerless national star, George Voigt, in the 1926 invitation championship.

Nee, who reaches his eighteenth birthday in July and who learned his golf at Manor, stroked the first nine in 33 and came home with a 34. He snagged four birdies during the eventful afternoon, and a weak chip on the sixteenth and a bold chip on the home hole forced him to take 5s, robbing him of a possible 65.

Has Harry Pitt As Partner.

Nee toured the layout in company with Harry Pitt, three times Chevy Chase invitation titleholder, and even in his great moments the Manor Moose could not match the deadly fire that spat from the medalist's woods, irons and putter. Pitt shot a 38—35—73. Pitt, however, stroked into the clubhouse to discover that he was nearest to his companion—a margin of 6 strokes.

Pitt flashed into old-time stride after being one over on the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth. He nabbed his par 4 on the fourteenth, birdied the next in 3, got his par on the sixteenth, made a beautiful approach and putt for a birdie 3 on the seventeenth, and played the concluding hole in orthodox figures. And it was this comeback that enabled the Manor kingpin to nose out Tom Belshe, Indian Spring. Belshe scored the well-trapped last 9 in 34 after a 40 on the first 9.

Next among the leading qualifiers marched Billy Shannon, of Columbia, and Martin P. McCarthy, of Beaver Dam, each with 75s. Shannon, out in 41, saved himself from passing out the first flight by shooting a 34. McCarthy, national amateur qualifier in 1932, had 38—37. Dick Lunn, of Chevy Chase, scored 76.

Four College Golfers Make Grade.

Three Georgetown University golfers, Jack Slattery, Joe Galvin and Walter Tynan; and one from Catholic University, Charlie Maginnis, made the qualifying grade. Tynan and Maginnis, each with 78, won in a spectacular playoff for the fifteenth and sixteenth positions with Joe Lynch, Georgetown star; Craig McKee, and Earl McAleer, of Indian Spring, and H. King Cornwell, Columbia youth. Macginnins qualified by winning the fourth, and the smooth-stroking Tynan shot a 4 to eliminate Cornwell on the fifth. W. D. Fondren, Augusta boy, carded a 78 on Tuesday, but could not be located for the play-off.

Other qualifiers were Parker Nolan, Manor finalist; Maj. E. A. Noyes, Army and Navy; John R. Miller, Beaver Dam; Nevins McBride, former Georgetown golfer; L. T. Preston, of the National Golf Links of America, and J.

Braves Beat Reds, 8-0; Brandt Allows 3 Hits

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 17 (A.P.).—While the Cincinnati Reds were helpless before Ed Brandt's left-handing, the Boston Braves bunched singles and a home run for an 8-to-0 victory today, their second in as many days.

Brandt granted not a hit until the sixth, when George Grantham scratched a single, and himself got three hits, as many as he gave. Meanwhile, his team mates bunched singles with a home run by Berger in the fifth for a six-run blast, and more for a two-run nightcap in the seventh.

BROWNS BOW TO RED SOX; WEST HURT

Alexander Leader in Win; Former Nat Sent to Hospital.

BOSTON, May 17 (A.P.).—Dale Alexander, American League batting champion, today came out of his prolonged slump and gave a perfect exhibition at the plate, while the Boston Red Sox were defeating the St. Louis Browns, 7-3.

Alexander, dropped from third to seventh in the batting order, banged out three singles and drew a pass. The slugging honors, however, went to Johnny Hodapp, who belted Right-Hander George Blaeholder for two doubles and a single to score two runs and drive in two more of the Red Sox tallies. George Pipgras, recently purchased from the New York Yankees, made his Boston bow and held the Browns to eight scattered hits.

Sammy West, St. Louis outfielder, was removed from the game in the eighth inning after he was hit in the face by a thrown ball. West had doubled and was struck when he tried to regain second base after Bruce Campbell lined out to Alexander. Alexander's throw struck him under his right eye.

West Is Removed To Hospital.

West was removed to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where an X-ray examination revealed that he suffered a fractured molar bone. It was said the injury will keep West idle for only a few days.

5-Run Chisox Rally In 8th Defeats A's

Philadelphia, May 17 (A.P.).—A five-run rally in the eighth inning today gave the Chicago White Sox the opening game of the series with the Philadelphia Athletics by a 5-to-2 score.

Al Simmons, former Athletic outfielder, making his debut in Philadelphia in a White Sox uniform, hit three singles in four times up, driving in one one run and scoring another.

Mule Haas, also a former Mackman, was put out of the game when he pushed Umpire Kolls after the latter called him out in a close play at the plate in the eighth inning.

U. S. Net Team Confident On Meeting Canada Today

MONTREAL, May 17 (A.P.).—Confident of the result, the United States Davis Cup team of Ellsworth Vines, jr., Wilmer Allison, George M. Lott, jr. and John Van Ryn today went through their final practice for the start tomorrow of their international series with Canada.

The winner of the series, the North American zone final, will meet Argentina, winner in South America, at Washington, D. C., Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The draw sends Vines against the Canadian youngster, Gilbert Nunns in the first match tomorrow, with fair and warm weather forecast for the first day of play. Vines went through a hard practice on the red clay courts of the Mount Royal Tennis Club, where the series will be played, and the polish of his game forecast little consolation for his young opponent.

Allison to Play Dr. Wright.

Wilmer Allison, who will play Dr. Jack Wright, ace of the Canadian forces, in the second singles encounter, also worked out for a short time as did the American doubles combination of Lott and Van Ryn, who swing into action against the as yet unselected Canadian pair Friday. The final two singles matches, Allison against Nunns and Vines against Wright, will be contested Saturday.

The warmer weather was welcomed by the American players who found the weather a bit chilly after the balmy air of Mexico City, where they played and defeated the Mexican team in a first round match two weeks ago.

Vines did not play at Mexico City and the coming series is his first serious competition since he returned from his Australian tour in February.

Dissatisfaction Report Is Minimized.

Reports of dissatisfaction in the Canadian ranks because of the naming of Nunns instead of Marcel Rainville for the singles assignment were minimized by officials, but it was no secret that Rainville felt he had not been treated fairly. He and Nunns played a test match before the series with Cuba at Hot Springs to determine who would play and Nunns won.

Rainville, however, asked a chance to redeem himself in another test and his request was turned down. It was still uncertain whether he would be nominated to play doubles with Wright as he did against Cuba.

Yanks Keep Lead; Beat Tigers, 4 to 1

New York, May 17 (A.P.).—With Lefty Gomez in form, the New York Yankees successfully protected their slim lead in the American League today, defeating the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1, in the first home game against the Western clubs.

The lanky Castilian held the Tigers to six scattered hits and had a shutout until the eighth, when he threw wild to second in an attempted double play after Hayworth had triple.

Carl Fischer, the Tiger's southpaw, did fairly well until the Yankees bunched two hits with two bases on balls and an infield out in the sixth to score three runs. Previously, Lou Gehrig had driven in Combs with the first Yankee run in the third inning.

In the matter of hits, Fischer held his own with Gomez, but his wildness proved costly. He was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Whitlow Wyatt finished the game.

Bucs Down Phils; Berly Injures Leg

Pittsburgh, May 17 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates cut loose with their powerhouse attack in the early innings and then with Hal Smith, rookie right-hander, pitching effective relief ball, defeated the Phillies, 6 to 4, to strengthen their hold on first place in the National League.

The Pirates scored three runs in the first inning off John Berly, and, although the Phillies took the lead with a four-run rally in the third, the Corsairs came back with two runs in their half of the frame and never were headed, as Smith, who relieved French in the fourth, held the Phils to two hits, both in the ninth.

The Phillies also lost the services of Berly during their big third inning. The young hurler fractured his right leg, when his spikes caught in the bag as he was crossing the home plate. He was carried from the field and taken to a local hospital.

NATS OPPOSE HILDEBRAND IN FINAL

Unbeaten Tribe Star Opposes Whitehill in Game Today.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IN second place for the first time in many moons, the Nationals this afternoon will battle to at least hold it while trying to make a series sweep over Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's Cleveland Indians. That their job will be a man-sized one is indicated by Peck's announcement that he will use Oral Hildebrand on the hill. Time was when the name Hildebrand meant little or nothing in baseball, but it is different this year, for this young right-hander has knocked Wes Ferrell's nose out of joint and now is the ace of the Tribe mound staff.

Hildebrand has not been beaten this season, and, not only has he turned in five victories, but three of them were shutouts. The Nats seem to be hitting high, wide and handsome these days, though, and Hildebrand may be treated to a most unpleasant afternoon.

Earl Whitehill, dapper little southpaw, will do the flinging for the Nats. He has done some good work this season and also some poor flinging. If he has one of his good days, another dingdong battle, such as yesterday's, should result.

Manager Joe Cronin plans no lineup changes. With Cecil Travis hitting and fielding so well at third, Oasie Bluege is not needed right now, while Buddy Myer seems to have completely recovered from the "beaning" he received in Detroit on the last trip.

Following the series with the Indians, which ends today, the revamped Chicago White Sox will be in our midst. The addition of Simmons, Haas and Dykes seems to have acted as a tonic for them and they are now right behind the Indians and too close to the Nats for comfort.

Oddly enough, only one of the Chisox regulars is a southpaw, which, on dope, should give rival teams with good right-handed pitchers an edge, although things have not worked out exactly that way. Manager Joe Cronin, however, is figuring on playing the percentage and probably will use Monte Weaver, Al Thomas and Al Crowder against them in that order.

For the language he used against Umpire Roy Van Grafian when called out on strikes in the tenth inning of Tuesday's hectic game, Chalmer (Bill) Cissell, Tribe second baseman, drew a three-day suspension from Will Harridge, American League head.

Travis hustled over toward short to take Kamm's bounder which was deflected off Crowder's glove in the second. The rookie, falling down as he made a rifle peg, almost robbed Kamm of a hit. After a wild pitch had advanced the runner, it took a good stop by Myer to prevent a score.

Schulte loafed while fielding Averill's ordinary single in the fourth and the runner hustled and made an extra base on the clout. As things turned out, this extra advance was just enough to enable the Tribe to tie the score at 1-all.

Averill had a chance to show his appreciation for Schulte's kindly act when Fred lashed a liner to deep center in the sixth, but he must have forgotten his debt. He turned, raced back toward the stands and came through with a great back-handed catch.

Clever Defense Work Aids Nats to Go Into 2d Place.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

ALVIN CROWDER and Wes Ferrell deflated the bats of the Indians and Nats, respectively, in an old-fashioned pitching duel at Griffith Stadium yesterday, but the Washington offensive which had spat out 27 hits on Tuesday still had a couple of gasps left, sufficient to manipulate Ferrell for a 3-2 victory.

Crowder, who was a good pitcher when he had it, recovered his effectiveness yesterday and nursed a 1-run lead across the finish line, limiting the bludgeoning Indians to eight hits with the assistance of some sure-fire tactics by the Nats' infield which came up with a pair of double plays and other threat-killing gestures that caused Injun after Injun to bite the dust.

Among other things, Ferrell can attribute his defeat to the fact that he couldn't get Joe Cronin out. The youthful boss man of the Nats, who recently encountered 13 hitless appearances at the plate, stirred himself from his batting slump yesterday with four rousing hits, a pair of singles and a pair of doubles, to figure in two of the Nats' three runs, besides acquitting himself with distinction in the field.

Travis No Drawback To Nats.

And Cecil Travis, the kid from Chattanooga, was no drawback yesterday, either. He drove in the run that broke a 1-to-1 tie in the sixth and scored the run that lifted the Nats to the front in the same inning. He made another hit earlier in the game, took one on the leg and thus by devious methods reached base three times in his four appearances at the plate.

Ferrell was throwing a half-speed ball all day that sounded like a sack of mush when it collided with a bat, but the Nats splattered it for ten hits.

The day's developments permitted the Nats to pull away from their second place tie with the Indians into undisputed possession of the runner-up berth behind the winning Yankees, who retain their lead only on a percentage basis. The Nats have played four more games than the Yanks, have won two more and lost two more.

Goslin's Triple Turned Into Run.

Goose Goslin contacted one of Ferrell's slow balls in the first inning after two were out and rattled it off the right field wall for a triple that was converted into a one-run lead for the Nats when Cronin doubled sharply into left field.

Cronin started a double play in the second and another in the third after the first Indian batter had reached base, but the Tribe deadlocked the game at 1-1 in the fourth when Averill detected Schulte loafing on his slam into center field and stretched it to two bases. He scored from third when Vosmik beat out a hit to Cronin, who made a miraculous stop and remarkable throw that retired the side in everybody's opinion with the exception of Umpire Van Grafian.

The Nats expanded their lead to 3-1 in the sixth with a 2-run uprising. Cronin sent in his second double down the left field line, but was anchored on second as Averill committed a dastardly piece of one-handed larceny on Schulte's deep drive into center field.

Single by Travis Scores Run.

But this fellow Cecil Travis rapped a single to left, scoring Cronin, and when Vosmik toyed with the hit,

VOTE SCORES EASY WIN IN CLOSING PIMLICO FEATURE RACE

Colt Defeats Snobful by 5 Lengths

Don Pedro Is Third; Zermatt Triumphs Over Jumps.

Gilbert Takes Riding Honors for Meeting; Jimmy D. Wins.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 17.—The Maryland Jockey Club's fifteen-day meeting came to a close today under bright skies and with the best midweek crowd of the spring on hand. Vote, the property of Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt, showed the way in the principal race of the afternoon. A field of five accepted the issue over the mile-and-70-yard route and the majority were of the better-class distance performers. Vote's victory came as something of a surprise.

The Hitt racer went to the front immediately after the start and romped home five lengths in front of his nearest pursuer, Snobful, from the W. W. Vaughan Stable. Don Pedro accounted for the third end of the purse. The big disappointment of the race was Open Hearth, the favorite, which was a badly beaten fourth. Jockey Steffen rode the winner, which paid a $14.20 mutuel.

The track was slow from recent rains, but was drying out fast as the program progressed.

Major General Takes Opener.

Homebred platers contested the opening event that had decision over the mile and seventy-yard route and it saw Major General, owned by J. McCarthy and ridden by the veteran, E. Pool, making every post a winning one to account for his success in a drive. Paying $9.40, Major General led Fair Bill in a drive, while third was earned by Town Square.

Juveniles racing under claiming conditions furnished the contention for the second event that had decision over the intermediate 4½ furlong route. This brought out seven starters when Billies Tryst was withdrawn, and the major award of the purse fell to Chatterdoo for his second score of the meeting. A tight fit resulted for premier honors and it was just a nose that separated Peedeeque from the winner with In Clover, the luke-warm choice, three lengths back of the pair to save third. H. Elston rode the winner and the mutuel return was $12.

Zermatt Surprises Over Jumps.

Walter Simpson, jr., supplied the winner of the Consolation Steeplechase, a 2¼-mile affair that attracted eight contestants. His colors were sported by two members. Of those that met Zermatt proved better of the pair in addition to other opposition, and at the end of the long journey was safely in the van of Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Cawvoge, with third easily accounted for by Curtain Call.

This was the supporting feature on a rather dull program that was served for the final racing day of the Pimlico spring meeting. Ridden by W. E. Ball, one of four brothers that have been performing here, Zermatt readily overtook Cawvoge after 1½ miles, and then held sway to win as his rider elected. All of the starters finished, with the winner paying $23.60.

Mack Sennett, racing for Mrs. J. H. Whitney, repeated his victory that took place early in the meeting and registered for the second time to score in runaway fashion in the 6 furlongs of the fourth race. Installed a strong choice over his mediocre opposition, R. Workman sent the Whitney gelding to the front after the start and was master of the situation thereafter to lead home Sue Jones by a half dozen lengths. Fair Clark, an outsider, took third. Workman's mount paid $4.

Gilbert Wins With Jimmy D.

Jockey J. Gilbert clinched riding honors at this meeting when he rode Jimmy D. to a hard-earned victory in the sixth number for his fourteenth success. Coming from behind and sending his mount through a narrow passage on the inside of the leaders when straightened into the stretch, Jimmy D. was readily driven through the space and took the measure of Burnside, with Single A. landing third. Gilbert's mount paid $11.40.

Gilbert, after clinching riding honors by scoring with Jimmy D. in the sixth race, followed that success by riding Ming Sun, a strong public choice, to a ridiculously easy score in the seventh event. Following the winner to the conclusion of the trip, which was decided over the mile and a sixteenth journey, came Lenox Avenue, while Running Play, second in demand with the players, was a driving third.

Annimessic scored a three-quarter length victory in the final number, leading Modern Times. Ward-in-Chancery was third.

BOWIE RACE TRACK.

DEAR AL:

Wait for Bowie! Well, friend, here we are ready to give the mutuels a shellacking and we can have no excuses. Mike has been over here for days digging up the sleepers. I have been over his preferred list and find some promising material. Dusted off the Bowie speed books last night in an effort to get away to a flying start. Can't guarantee these but they are all worth giving a chance. See you out in front of the press box.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—CORBODA gets in this race with only 107 pounds and is favored by a good chunk from most of the leading contenders. Gets my backing over ALLAHAN and SOUPCON.

SECOND RACE—INSTIGATOR was a fair sort at Pimlico and can be expected to continue to show to advantage. Workman probably will return to the saddle. MORDOM is reported rounding into shape and may be dangerous in a field of this caliber. ETERNAL MAID for the show.

THIRD RACE—PROMETHEUS ran a corking race the other afternoon, his first start since last winter. Closed with a rush. Today may find him to carry only 100 pounds in this, and he is, I expect it to be all over but the shouting. MEXICO is too consistent to be far out of it. IMA QUEEN is reported to be a fast worker. Has a chance.

FOURTH RACE—ILLUSIVE is asked to carry only 100 pounds in this and thus weighted deserves play. Packs a lot of closing speed and may have Dabson up to step on the gas. STAR PORTER can sprint with a group like this, and appears second best. CUTIE FACE for the show.

FIFTH RACE—TRED AVON and SPRINGSTEEL, the Labrot entry, seem to have a race here that they can handle. The mare gives away pounds to everything in the race, but there is no denying her class. CANRON may run better at this course and is dangerous. ACTION is a possible surprise at the weights.

SIXTH RACE — BUTTER BEANS drops pounds and gets weight from the chief threats in this field. A consistent and sourageous sort. ACTION, despite that 124-pound burden, must be considered high. INDIAN RUNNER for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—ANNIMESSIC, if sent back, may take the final. This one, which failed in stake ranks, is cleaning up among the platers. FLYING MAX and GENERAL LEJEUNE for the rest.

PIMLICO, MARYLAND, CHART, MAY 17, 1933.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAJOR GENERAL, $9.40, $5.20, $4.20; FAIR BILL, $7.20, $4.20; TOWN SQUARE, $4.00.

MAJOR GENERAL, hard hustled going to the first turn, came over and crowded GRAND ACRE and FAIR BILL midway of the turn, went into an easy lead, but had to be shaken up during the final furlong to withstand FAIR BILL. Latter, squeezed back when entering the back stretch, disposed of GRAND ACRE and closed gamely in the final drive. TOWN SQUARE worked her way up while racing wide, and could not threaten the first two at the end. FAIR JUDGE slipped through on the inside at the stretch turn and closed gamely. CANTERWOOD was never a factor. GRAND ACRE tired.

SECOND RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:36. Off at 2:41½. Winner, H. K. CHATTERDOO, outpaced for the first three furlongs after breaking fast, was kept on the inside of IN CLOVER, and responding stoutly to assume command in the final furlong, just lasted to stall off PEEDEEQUE. Latter circled around his field with good speed, closed fast and would have been the winner in few more strides. IN CLOVER, hurried to take the early lead, was kept in the first position and tired suddenly inside the final furlong. THIS PLAY was moving up stoutly when she was repeatedly impeded by INSPECTION all during the stretch run. INSPECTION was a keen factor early, but began tiring after three furlongs and swerved all during the final drive. The two others were outrun.

THIRD RACE—Two and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,000; handicap. The Consolation Steeplechase. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:06. Off at 3:08. Winner, W. ZERMATT, restrained for the first turn of his field, went to the pacemaker readily and moving into an easy lead after the twelfth fence held sway thereafter. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MACK SENNETT, $4.00, $2.40, $2.20; SUE JONES, $3.00, $2.60; FAIR CLARK, $5.60.

MACK SENNETT, having the most speed, took an easy lead when midway of the back stretch, was steered into the better footing after resisting a stout effort from SUE JONES and opening up a safe lead, finished under strong restraint. SUE JONES, after a mild breathing spell when leaving the back stretch, made a strong effort at the stretch turn, but weakened thereafter. FAIR CLARK, outrun in the first half mile, passed tiring horses in the final drive. PARK showed speed for three furlongs and stopped. JUSTICE LOGAN was not punished when he tired.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $800; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:14. Off at 4:18½. Winner, K. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—VOTE, $14.20, $5.60, $3.80; SNOBFUL, $6.00, $3.80; DON PEDRO, $3.00.

VOTE, rushed hard going to the first turn and outrunning his field, was rated in front to shake off PRINCE WICK, drew clear when midway of the final turn, and going into the better footing thereafter was never menaced. SNOBFUL, saving ground all the way, was held perfectly safe in the final issue. DON PEDRO, kept on the outside of the leaders, was unable to better his position in the late stages. OPEN HEARTH, kept under urging, failed to respond when hard ridden.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:47. Off at 4:50½. Winner, O. T. Gosnell's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JIMMY D., $11.40, $3.80, $3.20; BURNSIDE, $3.00, $2.40; SINGLE A., $4.40.

JIMMY D., stretching his way up on the inside and securing clear passage, gained fast during the final drive and wearing the pacemakers down in the closing furlong was drawing out steadily. BURNSIDE, placed forwardly, wore down SINGLE A. and then held on well. SINGLE A. had good speed until challenged, but was not good enough in the final drive. HIS WAY, hard urged, was unable to make up ground when in the stretch. ROD RACK tired as did BLACK DREAMS.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MING SUN, $4.80, $3.20, $2.40; LENOX AVENUE, $8.80, $3.80; RUNNING PLAY, $2.80.

MING SUN outran his field to the first turn, was permitted to go out into the better footing when settled on the back stretch, opened up a safe lead after six furlongs and drew out at will during the stretch run. LENOX AVENUE, in closest attendance from the start to the winner, tired gradually. RUNNING PLAY, stoutly urged in the last half mile, failed to increase his speed.

EIGHTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $800; claiming. The Dunbayne. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:51. Off at 5:53. ANNIMESSIC, under restraint, but moving into the lead without effort when reaching the back stretch, responded strongly when challenged and outstayed MODERN TIMES during the final drive. MODERN TIMES, taken in hand after going to the first turn in front, moved up stoutly when placed to punishment and held on well. WARD IN CHANCERY made a determined bid when straightening into the main stretch, but hung in the final issue. DUNFERN was in close quarters when moving up on the inside leaving the back stretch. He held on well.

Bowie Track In Opening Today

Inaugural Handicap Feature of Card; Post Time 2:30.

THE third lap of Maryland's spring racing program at Bowie, which will be ushered in today at 2:30 p. m., will see an all-star card, featured by the eleventh running of the Inaugural Handicap, a dash of 6 furlongs.

The majority of the winners at the recent Havre de Grace and Pimlico session are already on the grounds and all that is needed to make the session of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association a success is a fair break from the weather man.

Seven races will be offered daily. In addition to today's feature, there will be a trio of other stakes carded. On Saturday, May 20, the Bowie Kindergarten will be offered. This is a five-eighths mile sprint, exclusively for 2-year-olds.

The much-sought-after James Rowe Memorial Handicap, a mile and 70 yards test, will be run Saturday, May 27.

The piece de resistance of the meeting, booked as the Decoration Day Handicap, and carrying $5,000 added money will be offered May 30, the closing day of the meeting.

Since last fall the inter-city highway between Washington and Baltimore has been improved and as there is free parking space on track property for 10,000 cars, this will likely be the fans' chief mode of travel.

General Manager Joseph B. Boyle has a big demand for clubhouse, private box and reserved seats and expects to cater to an opening day turnout of 15,000 spectators.

An effort is being made to have President Franklin D. Roosevelt come here one day during the meeting. A box in the clubhouse sector has been set aside for his family and his son, James Roosevelt, who took in the Kentucky Derby, is expected to be a frequent user of the box.

RAEDY, OF WESTERN, GIVES ROOSEVELT 3 HITS IN 8-2 WIN

JACK RAEDY provided the Western High School team with some three-hit pitching yesterday, lifted it out of the cellar, and deposited Roosevelt at the bottom of the standing in the interscholastic series. The score was 8 to 2.

So effective was Raedy that Roosevelt was unable to get a ball out of or through the infield, with the result that none of the Western outfielders received a fielding chance.

Cheated of a shutout when erring mates in the infield tossed the ball around like a hot potato to permit Roosevelt to score lone runs in the first and eighth, Raedy was in supreme command, allowing nothing above a single, and being solved only by Giovanetti, Curtin and Baroni, his pitching rival. Raedy lent two two-base hits to Western's 13-hit attack against Baroni.

Four Runs Scored In Ninth.

Western pecked away at Baroni for a run in each of the first three innings, scored another in the eighth, and then blew the lid off the game with a four-run uprising in the ninth.

Roosevelt scored in the first when Cochrane's throw hit Giovanetti in the back, allowing him to score from third base. Its run in the eighth was scored following a walk to Garner and an error by De Stephens, who allowed Wood's throw to get away from him after Garner had stolen both second and third.

Cochrane Gets Home Run.

Cochrane, one of the four Westerners to make two hits, got a home run when Hayman slipped in fielding his drive to left field. Despite his error, De Stephens was a winning light at third base in the Western defense.

respect for Connie Mack's youthful collection, despite the present low station of the Athletics. Higgins will do at third base and with McNair back at shortstop they have no apologies to offer for their infield. The outfield of Johnson, Cramer and Coleman or Finney is the best defensive crew in the circuit.

They still have Grove, Cochrane and Foxx, a mighty trio; with George Earnshaw working himself back into condition and Rube Walberg also taking a regular turn. Young Johnny Cain beat both the Nats and Cleveland impressively and rounds out a four-man staff that concedes nothing to any in the league. And for the first time in seasons they have speed on the bases. The Athletics are not being underestimated in big league managerial circles.

Hard to See Chisox as Contenders.

The West is reputed to be stronger, with Cleveland hanging around the lead and the White Sox also in the first division, but it is difficult to see Chicago as a pennant threat despite the injection of new blood in the form of Simmons, Dykes and Haas.

The Athletics last year had Simmons, Dykes and Haas, and they also had Grove, Foxx, Cochrane, Earnshaw and Walberg, yet they finished thirteen games behind the Yankees. The Chisox can surround the former Philadelphia trio with no such constellation of stars as were on the A's roster last year, and the Chicago threat hardly looms as serious.

Thus the remaining field is narrowed to the Red Sox, Tigers and Browns. You get 50 to 1 and up in New York books on any one of them.

Tech 3-2 Winner Over Alexandria

Tech High visited Alexandria yesterday for a battle with Alexandria High tossers and was not disappointed, for the two staged a red-hot game from start to finish, with the Techmen finally coming out on top, 3 to 2.

It was a pitchers' duel, with Hudson holding Tech to but three hits, while Alexandria was able to get only the same number off the combined offerings of Chewning, Turner, Elgin and Wiles.

NATS BEAT TRIBE, 3-2; CROWDER HURLS

Travis went to second. Ferrell passed Buddy Myer to get to Luke Sewell and Sewell got to Ferrell with a clean smash to center that scored Travis.

The Tribe fell one run short of tying the score in the seventh. Vosmik beat out an infield hit and went to third on Knickerbocker's single to center. Myatt scored him with a long fly to Goslin, but when Knick attempted to go to second on Goslin's throw in to the plate, Joe Cronin cut off the heave near the pitcher's box and rifled it to Buddy Myer, who put the ball on Knick to retire the side and the Injuns' hopes of winning.

Wes Ferrell led off the eighth with a single and was sacrificed to second, but Travis came up with Burnett's hot smash in his glove, held Ferrell on second like a wily old veteran, and then heaved Burnett out at first to quash the rally. Three Injuns bit the dust in one-two-three order in the ninth.

G. U. Prep Beats Eastern Nine, 5-4

Georgetown Prep's nine completed a string of victories which includes among the victims every Washington high school club yesterday by taking a 5-to-4 decision from the Eastern team in a game played at Garrett Park. The Preps made it nine victories in twelve starts.

As usual, McNamara was the hero for the winners. Besides pitching a fine game, he connected with the hit that sent J. Keating scampering across the plate with the winning run in the last inning.

G. W. Rallies In Ninth To Win

Scores Three Runs to Defeat Mount St. Mary's, 11-10.

IN a characteristic late rally George Washington again came from behind to win a ball game last night at Griffith Stadium, defeating Mount St. Mary's, 11 to 10, after the first two Colonial batters had been retired in the ninth inning.

With the end of the ball game in sight on Trilling's easy roller to Chanowski, Stuka, visiting first baseman, dropped his teammate's throw. Madden likewise appeared out on a grounder to Chanowski, but the second sacker dropped the bill. Albert then singled scoring Trilling and Zahn walked to fill the bases. A minute later Ed Baer rifled a shot to right field to score Madden and Albert with the tying and winning runs.

Cal Griffith, son of Clark Griffith, pitched his first game for George Washington, and performed effectively with the exception of the fourth inning, when four walks, a hit batsman and two hits gave the visitors six runs.

The Colonials showed plenty of fight. They did not break into the scoring column until the fifth, at which stage of the game they were trailing, 8 to 0. But once started, they would not be denied. They add 1 two runs in the sixth, one in the seventh, three in the eighth and then their final trio in the final round to take the verdict.

SOUTHERN WOMEN BAPTISTS TO START CONVENTION TODAY

Delegates Representing Half-Million Persons Interested in Missions to Attend.

Preparatory to the opening here tomorrow of the Southern Baptist convention, Southern delegates of the Woman's Missionary Union, representing a membership of 563,830 in 31,549 organizations, will convene in their forty-fifth session today at Constitution Hall. At the same time a Baptist Men's Conference, under the auspices of the Baptist Brotherhood of the South, will meet in morning, afternoon and evening sessions in the Calvery Baptist Church.

Committee meetings of the women's association were held yesterday. Nineteen Southern States and the District of Columbia are included in the missionary union, each being entitled to 45 delegates, for whom seats are reserved, but the meetings are open to all women.

The message of Mrs. W. J. Cox, president of the Woman's Missionary Union, will feature the morning session of that organization. The address of welcome will be by Mrs. Earl W. Chafee, chairman of the Washington committee, with response by Mrs. F. W. Armstrong, of Missouri. Mrs. Emily G. Dickinson, of this city, is organist, and Mrs. Eva W. Lovette, also of Washington, hymn leader. This evening the Lovette Choral Club will give a choral program.

The meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood of the South will include addresses this morning on "Associational Brotherhood," by J. M. Edwards, of Johnston, S. C.; by W. G. Doyle, of New York, representing the northern Baptist men; and by John Lake, missionary to China, "In the Religions Beyond;" this afternoon on "What the Brotherhood Means to My Church," by J. L. Willis, Columbia, S. C.; "Outline Service in the Local Church," by D. R. Isom, secretary for Louisiana; extension work, by D. S. Haworth, Knoxville, Tenn.; "Offerings a Vital Feature of Worship," by J. T. Henderson, Knoxville, secretary of the brotherhood; "The Layman and His Bible," by Dean Wilbur, of George Washington University; and "The Layman and His Money," by Ben Johnson, of Washington.

Pat M. Neff, former Governor of Texas, and now president of Baylor University, at Waco, Tex., will speak this evening on "Manhood on the March." Other speakers at the evening session which will be presided over by J. H. Anderson, of Knoxville, Tenn., chairman of the executive committee, will be R. E. Gaines, of the University of Richmond, on "The Layman's Place in Christ's Program;" and J. L. Kraft, of Chicago, on "The Challenge."

Sanitarium's License Quiz Will Be Tomorrow

A hearing was scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow in the Washington Cancer Sanitarium case yesterday by the District Commissioners upon receipt of word from Dr. H. R. Street that he wished to be heard on the recommendation to revoke the institution's license.

The Commissioners notified Dr. Street to show cause as to why the sanitarium license should not be revoked last Saturday after Health Officer William C. Fowler had recommended revocation following an inspection.

D. C. PLANS TO STOP BEER BOOTLEGGING

Tax Assessor Warns Dealers Against Outside Unlicensed Beverage.

A formal warning that the District beer act will be enforced to prevent bootlegging of the 3.2 per cent beverage in Washington was issued yesterday by the tax assessor's office upon authority of the Commissioners.

"It has been brought to the attention of this office that there are a number of on-sale and off-sale permittees who are purchasing their beer, wine, ale, porter and other beverages from persons who hold no permit to sell beer or transport it into the District," the warning stated.

After quoting Section 10 of the local beer act, the statement interpreted the provision as meaning that "no off-sale or on-sale permittee is allowed to buy beverages in the District from a wholesaler or broker unless such wholesaler or broker holds a wholesale permit from the District Commissioners * * * or to go into another city and purchase beverage unless he is assured that the person from whom he purchases the beverage has a certificate of approval from the District Commissioners."

Any one licensed by the Beverage Permits Board to sell beer in the District will lose his permit if he buys from unauthorized brewers or wholesalers, the tax assessor said, and may be subject to further prosecution and penalties.

The permits board was swamped with telephone calls yesterday from business establishments in residential zones which now desire to sell beer under off-sale licenses as a result of the District Supreme Court's decision. Attention will be given to these applications at the semiweekly meeting today.

Following a conference yesterday with Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, the Commissioners announced that they would not appeal from Justice Adkins' decision.

Capt. Hugh P. Oram, director of inspection and executive officer of the District Zoning Commission, said yesterday that he would ask to be relieved of duty on the permits board as soon as the annual licenses are issued, as he considers the court's decision has practically eliminated zoning as a matter to be considered in issuing beer permits.

WILL OF $4,049,994 FILED IN D. C. COURT

Mrs. Diaz-Albertini Leaves Entire Estate to Son and Husband.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds Diaz-Albertini, who maintained a home here, but who died in Paris, France, April 18, left an estate of $4,049,944.05, it was disclosed in the District Supreme Court yesterday when a petition for the probate of her will was filed. All of the estate is made up of cash, stocks, bonds, other securities and jewels.

The will directed that the trustees and executors, Lewis Latham Clarke, of New York City, and Henry Hill Anderson, of Nassau, N. Y., select from the estate sufficient securities to pay to Mrs. Diaz-Albertini's husband, Leandro Estaban Diaz-Albertini, $100,000 a year.

A son, Stockwell Reynolds Diaz-Albertini, is given all the jewels and the remainder of the estate, and he is to have the father's trust fund, in principal, upon his father's death. The son resides at Taplow, Bucks, England.

All the tapestries, art, books, silverware, and furniture are to be divided between the son and father, with the stipulation that upon his father's death, everything is to go to the son. Mrs. Diaz-Albertini suggested that the son save a portion of his income and reinvest it.

The father and son, named as the sole heirs, filed waivers to the probate of the will.

McLean Lauds City At Rotary Meeting

How Washington, the city, impresses the new member of Congress was described at yesterday's Rotary Club luncheon at the Willard by Representative Donald H. McLean, who is past president of the Rotary Club, of Elizabeth, N. J., his home State.

Introduced by President Arthur C. Christie, Representative McLean lauded the physical beauties of the National Capital. The spirit of the people is what makes a city, the representative said, and Washington's spirit is one of hospitality and good will which makes a most favorable impression.

Radio Joe Kaufman, the second speaker of the day, discussed the Washington Renovize Campaign, indorsed by the Rotary Club, describing the splendid progress made to date and urging the active support of all District Rotarians.

Shoemaker Given Delay On Hearing in Assault

The scheduled hearing of assault charges against Representative Francis H. Shoemaker, of Minnesota, was continued in Police Court yesterday, when postponement of the case was requested, due to his attorney's illness.

Representative Shoemaker is charged with punching a neighbor's eye because of noise from an adjoining apartment in the Chastleton Hotel.

Schall's Son Gets $45,000 Damages

Douglass Schall, son of United States Senator Thomas D. Schall, will receive a sum of "not less than $45,000" for the injuries he sustained in 1930 when a truck of the Standard Oil Co. collided with his small coupe on the Edmonton road, East Riverdale, Md., it was announced yesterday.

A verdict of $60,000 had been returned for Schall in the District Supreme Court two weeks ago, but when the oil company announced it would appeal, an out of court settlement was effected.

Schall, at the time of the accident, was a student at the Naval Academy. Because of the injuries he sustained he was forced to resign from school. He is now a student at Georgetown University Law School. Attorney A. L. Newmyer, of Washington, and Tom Davis, of Minneapolis, Minn., represented Schall in the litigation, and Attorneys Norman B. Frost and Lucian Vandoren represented the oil company.

Rites for Carroll 2 P. M. Tomorrow

Funeral services for Jesse B. Carroll, 59, of 207 Webster street northwest, District sanitary inspector, who shot himself yesterday morning while sitting in his car near Tenth and Randolph streets northwest, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the funeral home of W. W. Chambers, 1,400 Chapin street northwest. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

According to one of several notes found in the car addressed to Bernard Carroll, of 956 Shepherd street northwest, Carroll expressed fear that he was becoming blind, and, rather than be a burden to any one, he was going to "end it all."

The note also asked that funeral expenses be kept low and that they be paid out of his insurance policy. The man was found on the back seat of his car by Tenth Precinct police shortly after he shot himself through the head with a .32-caliber revolver, which was clinched in his right hand.

A certificate of suicide was issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

"Crippled Child" Topic Tonight.

Senator Arthur M. Capper, chairman of the schools subcommittee of the District Committee of the Senate, will speak on "What to Do for the Crippled Child" in the Washington Community Forum over Station WMAL at 9 o'clock tonight.

TRAFFIC TOLL TO DATE.

Be careful passing street cars about to discharge passengers where there are no platforms or safety zones. If you see a trolley slowing at an intersection, play safe and slow down yourself. Don't speed up with hope of getting by before the passengers start to alight, for they may come out faster than you are counting on, and you may hit one.

The figures are:

	1932.	1933.
Deaths	48	26
Injuries	1,483	1,351
Accidents	3,236	3,076

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL STUDY PLAN TO MEET ECONOMY CUT

Program to Be Presented at Meeting Today Work of School Officials.

The Board of Education will meet at 3 p. m. today as a committee of the whole to study a plan to meet the reduced appropriation for teachers and librarians, it was decided at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon.

The plan to be presented has been worked out by school officials. Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, expressed hope yesterday that the ultimate program decided on will not bring embarrassment to the teachers and librarians.

The reduced appropriation necessitates a reduction in the 2,894 teachers and librarians heretofore authorized by Congress, the superintendent pointed out.

Under normal conditions, an average of 93 teachers and librarians leave the public school service each year through retirement, resignation and deaths. This number has been decreased, however, since the depression.

May Reduce Force.

Dr. Ballou said that the board will undoubtedly allow for the normal number leaving the service next year, but added that it will probably be necessary to reduce the force still further.

Henry Gilligan, board member, asked that no definite action be taken at today's meeting.

Restrictions in operation of summer and evening schools were presented by Dr. Ballou and approved by the board. Preference will be given to students who have failed in a grade or subject and who wish to repeat this work.

Students who will next be given preference are those who have passed the grade or subject and who are recommended by their teachers to repeat this work for strengthening purposes. The last students to be given consideration are those who wish to take an advanced grade or subject.

Class Limits Set.

Twenty-five students will be set as the minimum number for organizing a class and 40 will be set as the maximum number.

Salaries of vacation school employes will be reduced 15 per cent. All registration by cards must be filed with the directors of evening and summer schools by June 15.

The board, on recommendation of the superintendent, rejected the suggestion of the Park View Citizens Association that certificates be awarded to pupils on completion of 6B work in elementary grades.

The annual spring conference between school officials and citizens on the estimates for 1935 was set for 8 p. m. May 22.

Unfairness Is Laid To Leviathan Firm

Charging that the S. S. Leviathan, largest American ship carrying mail and passengers, is being discriminated against, a delegation of American seamen of the ship, arriving in this city yesterday, stated that their object was a congressional investigation, the retraction of alleged statements by the the present operators of the vessel that it is obsolete, and the return of the entire fleet of the United States Lines to the control of the United States Shipping Board.

The seamen claim that the International Mercantile Marine, present operators of the liner, have made a number of efforts to discourage passengers from using the ship. They also stated the upkeep of the liner has been neglected.

Mail as well as passengers have been diverted from the vessel, they alleged. The management of the vessel, they said, are interested in British merchant fleets and therefore give them preference.

QUORUM LACK HALTS GAS LIGHT COMBINE

Members of Both Committees Fail to Appear to Take Action on Bill.

Approval of the Washington-Georgetown Gas Light Co. merger project was withheld, temporarily, by both District congressional committees yesterday, when lack of a quorum in either committee forced postponment of a showdown on the bill.

The House District Committee will meet again tomorrow morning to consider Representative Loring M. Black's favorable subcommittee report on the measure. Speaker Rainey has assured Chairman Mary T. Norton the bill might be called up on the House calendar Monday, if favorably reported by the committee.

King to Call Meeting.

Chairman William H. King of the Senate District Committee announced he will call another meeting in the next few days to consider the project. He conferred late yesterday with Chairman Mason M. Patrick of the Public Utilities Commission; William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel; Richmond B. Keech, peoples counsel, and gas company officials.

Action by the House District Committee yesterday was prevented by Representative Carl M. Weideman (Democrat), Michigan, and Representative Thomas J. O'Brien (Democrat), Illinois. Mr. O'Brien said he does not consider the measure emergency legislation. Mr. Weideman indicated he wanted to study the bill to make certain the interests of gas consumers and stockholders are protected.

A statement showing that $1,747,250 will be spent in the Washington area in the event of a merger, and between 250 and 500 men will be employed, prepared by the companies, was laid before the committee by Chairman Norton.

Salary Admitted.

Questioned by Representative Weideman, M. L. Sperry, president of the Washington Gas Light Co., admitted receiving a salary of $25,000 and said this was the highest paid by the local concern.

Gen. Patrick and Mr. Roberts, testifying for the Public Utilities Commission, said the commission would have absolute control over issuance of any stock contemplated under the merger. It was brought out that the Georgetown company is now 100 per cent owned by the Washingto company.

TRIPLE KILLING LAID TO "DREAM STATE"

Donaldson's Counsel Rests Case After Testimony of Alienists.

Charles Donaldson, 52, was in a "dream state" on the night of January 5 when he shot and killed his brother, niece and nephew in their home at 932 Maryland avenue southwest, alienists testified in his defense in the District Supreme Court yesterday.

The physicians declared that this "dream state" would have made the alleged triple slayer unable to tell what he had done while he was under its influences. They described the "state" as developing into amnesia immediately after the "dream state."

The defense attorneys, Henry Schweinhaut and Lucian Vandoren, rested their case after they got into the record the medical testimony about Donaldson's alleged mental condition on the night of the slaying. Chief Justice A. A. Wheat then adjourned court until tomorrow morning, the meeting of the Bar Association today at the Congressional Club having intervened to prevent attorneys from appearing in court.

FIRE RECORD.

10:20 p. m.—2201 Georgia avenue northwest; smoky chimney.

CITIZENS TO FIGHT FRIENDSHIP HOUSE LIBRARY REMOVAL

Association Names Group to Protest Economy Plan Before Bowerman.

Protesting against the contemplated removal of the public library extension unit at Friendship House, the South Washington Citizens Association, meeting at the Fairbrother School last night, decided to make a determined fight for the retention of the library in their neighborhood.

A committee was appointed to lodge a protest with George F. Bowerman, public librarian, against the removal of the library. The library should be increased instead of abolished, members of the association contended. Most of the work in connection with the library was done by workers of the Friendship House, it was pointed out.

School Called Fire Trap.

Members charged that it would be a gross injustice to the residents of the Southwest section if the library were closed. In times when unemployed members of the community relied on reading to relieve their worries, members stated, it would be unjust to cut off their supply of books. The closing of the unit, in operation for the last 30 years, is deemed necessary because of the reduced library budget. The association stated, however, that much greater sums than are necessary to maintain the library are being expended on new library extensions in other sections of the city.

A committee was also appointed to protest against the condition of fire preventives in the Jefferson Junior High School. The building was said to be a veritable fire trap by an investigating group. Harry Minker headed the committee appointed to express the sentiment of the association.

Milk Inquiry Ordered.

Miss Gertrude Cone addressed the group on the work of the Juanita K. Nye Council House. She stated that the social agency was devoted to aiding underprivileged children in the neighborhood. In addition to a child nursery, the council sponsors entertainments and playground activities.

J. M. Schaffer, president of the association, presided at the meeting. He appointed a committee to investigate the milk prices and the distribution of milk in the Southwest section.
